Pope Again Offers To Mediate on War

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI called on the United States today to suspend the bombing of North Vietnam and offered anew to mediate the war. He said he was grieved and astonished that previous offers of mediation and honest attempts for peace had been rejected.

The pontiff's new appeal for an end of the bombing came on the eve of a possible visit to the Vatican by President Johnson on his way home from Australia. There have been reports here and in Washington that Johnson wants to see the Pope to explain the U.S. position on Vietnam. But there has been no confirmation that a stopover here was being arranged.

Hanoi in the past has rejected the Pope's offers to serve as a mediator in Vietnam.

The Roman Catholic leader has praised U.S. peace proposals that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have steadily turned down.

"Many voices have requested us to exhort one of the participants to suspend bombing," the Pope said.

"Do It Again" "We have done it before and we do it again," he added. The appeal was contained in a 28-page address delivered to the College of Cardinals. They had assembled at the Vatican to extend Christmas greetings to the Pope.

Continuing his reference to Vietnam, the Pope said: "May violence cease in all its forms."

"We are certain that the final goal to pursue is not an oppressive victory, but security, peace and liberty for all."

"Frank and loyal negotiations are the only constructive road for true peace."

The Pope's appeal represented a new effort to establish a dialogue between the belligerents in Vietnam and to influence public opinion in favor of negotiations to end the fighting.

"We are grieved and astonished to observe how every disinterested offer of mediation has been made in vain and how each peaceful and honest attempt has been rejected," the 70-year-old pontiff said.

The Pope described himself as "foreign to any interested party and only concerned with the human values involved."

"We have dared to offer our neutral collaboration (and) are ready to cooperate in the most efficient way to allow establishment of true peace."

He said he "would like to think that all those who can exert decisive influence in this direction would give a sign of serious desire for peace."

'See What Yorty Does' Rudy Vallee Has Eye On LA Mayor's Seat

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singing star Rudy Vallee says he may try a political tune and run for mayor of Los Angeles.

Vallee revealed Thursday he was considering the bid but said "first I'm going to wait and see what my friend Sam Yorty decides to do."

Yorty, mayor since 1961, is said to be weighing a race for

Mrs. Boles said after the temporary court order was issued. "We thank God. . . I can't talk. . . I love everybody."

The Boles lost the girls a year ago when a judge ruled Mrs. Boles' health was too poor to permit the couple to adopt the youngsters.

A heart operation, however, has corrected a defect and "now I'm well," said Mrs. Boles, 42. "I couldn't pass the physical before" when adoption papers were filed. "My house was approved but I wasn't."

Before they were ordered removed, Christie and Connie

had lived with the Boles since infancy.

"We got them from the hospital when they were only days old," Mrs. Boles said.

The Boles have visited Christie once a month at the State Children's Home in Sparta since custody of the girls was turned over to the State Public Welfare Department.

They haven't seen Connie since she was taken a year ago to a foster home in Beloit.

"We'll be strangers with Connie for awhile," Mrs. Boles said. "I haven't seen my baby since last December."

Trapped 19 Hours in California

17 Freed From Mountain Cave-in

GORMAN Calif. (AP) — Seventeen men, trapped for 19 hours behind a cave-in inside a snowcapped mountain, crawled through a narrow passageway to safety today.

A cheer went up as the men emerged from the entrance to a 1½-mile-long State Water Project tunnel in the Tehachapi mountains, which separate Northern and Southern California.

Fellow workmen had tried to reach the men from three directions, but feared the men might be trapped as long as four or five days. However, one team—digging head-on through 80 feet of dirt, rock and steel blocking the tunnel—made rapid progress after finding the collapsed steel roof had formed a partial passageway.

"No one felt we would never get out," said one of the trapped men, H. G. Harrison, a construction inspector for the State Department of Water Resources. "But we thought it would take a week to get us out."

"How they got to us as fast as they did I'll never know."

The trapped men laughed, told jokes and ate and drank from supplies lowered through two pipes—four-and eight-inches in diameter—that were undamaged by the cave-in. Their air supply was never in danger and they were warmer—by at least 40 degrees—than rescuers and onlookers standing above ground in 14-degree temperature.

"I wasn't scared, not a bit," declared Roy Willis. "The only reason one of the rescuers worked so hard is I owe him 30 bucks."

"You would expect that many men to have some hysteria," added Harrison, "but there was none."

"I've made enough money in overtime to take a few days off," sighed Charles Shuler.

"You've got to give credit to the guys up top," he added. "They were digging through a hole without timbers. That's damn dangerous."

Rescuers dug through the debris into the chamber, shook hands with the trapped men, and then backtracked to shore up the escape tunnel and cut protruding steel with welding torches.

Harrison, 6-foot-2, and 200 pounds, said the opening was "just barely large enough to squeeze through."

Besides the crew that reached the men other crews were digging at the side of the collapsed

Trip From Australia In Secret

KHORAT, Thailand (AP)—President Johnson made a secret flight to this American-built Thai air force base today to spend the night before an anticipated trip over the weekend to Rome and a conference with Pope Paul VI.

While the President's official party was silent as to a possible flight to Rome on his journey home from Australia, a spokesman in the Vatican indicated Johnson will pay a private visit to the Pope on Saturday.

Johnson flew to Khorat Airbase today after attending memorial rites for his friend and Vietnam war ally, Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt, who disappeared while swimming last Sunday.

The White House staff had sought to keep the trip here secret. Word got out about the Khorat stop but a secrecy lid still was on the President's future travel plans.

Visit to Vietnam

There was much speculation that he might visit Vietnam itself, although his staff refused to say where he would go next.

Speaking to men in uniform here, Johnson said:

"I realize that an old man is a poor excuse for your wife and your family and your loved ones, but I wanted so much to be with you at Christmas. I want to look each of you in the eye."

Johnson said each of his listeners "should know right will prevail." He said "your cause is a just one."

Johnson flew to Khorat from Darwin on Australia's northern coast, where he had stopped for refueling after the flight from Melbourne where he had attended the Holt services.

The White House tried to keep the Darwin stop secret, too, but apparently the plans were no secret there. A small crowd was on hand and the makings of a motorcade were in place.

Apparently, then the President decided to go into town.

Khorat, manned almost entirely by American airmen with American fighter bombers, is 120 miles north of Bangkok. The Air Force sent out two F105

Thunderchiefs on a night radar bombing strike just before the President arrived.

During his 36 hours in Australia, Johnson talked with the nation's interim prime minister, John McEwen, and leaders of South Vietnam, South Korea, New Zealand, Thailand and the Philippines—America's allies in the Vietnam war—as well as with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore.

His meeting with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu ended with a declaration that the two men agreed on ways to promote peace in Vietnam.

B52 Bombers Return to DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers returned to blast North Vietnamese targets in the demilitarized zone again today despite the threats of more missiles like the three the Reds fired at them in the same area Thursday.

The huge high-altitude bombers pounded troop concentrations and artillery positions in the northern half of the DMZ, seven miles north-northwest of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien. Earlier in the day they blasted suspected Communist infiltration routes along the Cambodian border.

New Assault

At the same time the U.S. Command disclosed a new amphibious and helicopter assault by Marines along the northern sector where 35,000 Communist troops are believed concentrated.

There was no report of any more SAMs being fired when the B52s returned today.

In other raids today, the big bombers pounded two suspected infiltration routes within a few miles of the Cambodian border. One strike was 68 miles northwest of Saigon where supplies filter into War Zone C. The second was 89 miles north of Saigon near the Bu Dop Special Forces camp which the Communists assaulted last month.

The new Marine assault, also only significant action so far occurred shortly before dark Thursday when one Marine company exchanged small arms and machinegun fire with an enemy force of unknown size entrenched in a complex of bunkers. Four Marines were killed and nine were wounded. Communist casualties were not known.

U.S. cruisers and destroyers also turned their big guns on Communist positions along the northern frontier, and fighter-bombers also raked enemy strongpoints.

Hit SAM Site

Flying from carriers in the Tonkin Gulf, Navy A4 Skyhawk bombers attacked a suspected SAM site 25 miles north of the DMZ but no damage as-essment was announced. Other Skyhawks dropped 250-pound bombs on a North Vietnamese artillery post 10 miles northwest of the U.S. Marine outpost at Gio Linh.

The northeast monsoons confined U.S. air strikes to secondary targets in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam Thursday for the second straight day. U.S. pilots flew 90 missions.

U.S. headquarters in its weekly report on aircraft losses announced that 767 American warplanes have been lost in combat over North Vietnam, one more than previously announced. As usual the additional loss was not explained.

Enemy Terrorism

Around Saigon, Viet Cong guerrillas stepped up their terrorist and sabotage activities in an apparent show of strength prior to the annual Christmas truce.

A U.S. spokesman said there were 14 terrorist incidents reported in the Saigon area in the last week, "a fairly large number for Saigon in one week."

Five American servicemen were wounded this morning by a grenade thrown from a motorcycle into a group waiting at a bus stop. The terrorist escaped.

Cold-if Not White-Christmas Is Likely

Christmas in the Fox Valley is going to be a little more Christmasy than had been expected Thursday.

After the Valley basked in record high temperatures, the mercury plunged to an official 5 degrees above zero in Appleton early this morning, about the same time that winter officially began at 7:17 a.m. The drop was 44 degrees from Thursday's official high of 49.

The overnight low in Wisconsin was minus-6 in Superior.

The forecast provides for more of the same, although temperatures won't be quite so low until Christmas Day. Frequent periods of light snow and flurries are expected throughout the weekend.

Snow totaling an official .4 inch dusted Valley highways with a thin white layer, sufficient to make driving perilous today. Outside of the Valley area, however, highways in the state were in good winter driving condition late this morning.

The state's high Thursday was 57 at Milwaukee, the city's highest reading on record for the date. Green Bay's 52 degrees was that city's highest also.

Christmas Reunion Allowed

Foster Parents 'Love Everybody'

BY ARTHUR L. SRB

WAUNAKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Boles girls, separated from their foster parents for more than a year by court order, will be home for Christmas.

Christie, 10, and Connie, 8, will be reunited Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boles on an order issued Thursday by Judge Russell Mittelstad of Dane County Court.

The Boles said they plan to initiate adoption proceedings and perhaps will have Christie and Connie home for good at the start of the new year.

"We can hardly believe it,"

Mrs. Boles said after the temporary court order was issued. "We thank God. . . I can't talk. . . I love everybody."

The Boles lost the girls a year ago when a judge ruled Mrs. Boles' health was too poor to permit the couple to adopt the youngsters.

A heart operation, however, has corrected a defect and "now I'm well," said Mrs. Boles, 42. "I couldn't pass the physical before" when adoption papers were filed. "My house was approved but I wasn't."

Before they were ordered removed, Christie and Connie

had lived with the Boles since infancy.

"We got them from the hospital when they were only days old," Mrs. Boles said.

The Boles have visited Christie once a month at the State Children's Home in Sparta since custody of the girls was turned over to the State Public Welfare Department.

They haven't seen Connie since she was taken a year ago to a foster home in Beloit.

"We'll be strangers with Connie for awhile," Mrs. Boles said. "I haven't seen my baby since last December."

I couldn't even send her a birthday present.

Mrs. Boles said she learned of the court order Thursday morning but still couldn't believe it hours later.

"You know how sometimes you're afraid to hope," she said of the months of waiting. "I'm still pinching myself."

Mrs. Boles said she and her husband weren't planning an elaborate Christmas for Christie and Connie, and perhaps wouldn't even have a tree.

"We don't want anything but our girls," she said. "This is going to be a different Christmas. . . a Christmas of being thankful and loving."

Priority List Urged for Outagamie Projects

A detailed look at where Outagamie County will be going in the next three to five years will be sought at the January meeting of the county board, with the aim of developing a priority list of proposed capital improvements.

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, chairman of the board's health, education and institutions committee, made the proposal Thursday and was supported by County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler.

DeLaHunt asked that either an executive session of the entire board or a committee-of-the-whole session be held where all supervisors could bring out what they felt would be the major needs of the county for the future.

Proposals Face Board

The Kaukauna supervisor said there already were a number of proposals involving large sums of money facing the board and that priorities should be set up along with determining what effect the spending will have on county taxes in the future.

Some of the major items facing the county, cited by DeLaHunt, include airport improvements, University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center proposals, possible recommendations from the blue ribbon citizens committee on the county institutions, courthouse remodeling and highway programs.

DeLaHunt suggested that projections be made on the county's tax base in an attempt to determine how much money will be available and how drastically bonding will affect the tax rate.

Could Make Study

He said that a committee-of-the-whole meeting would permit all supervisors to bring out any ideas they had on the county's needs for the future. County officials could then make a study from the proposals and set up a priority list, DeLaHunt said he has not received any word on the exact date it will be submitted.

Whether the proposal will be acted on in January will depend on whether the blue ribbon committee's report is completed and in the hands of supervisors prior to the January session of the board.

The report was scheduled for completion by Jan. 1 but Esler said he has not received any word on the exact date it will be submitted.

The blue ribbon group has been studying the county's institutional facilities and is expected to make recommendations regarding possible consolidation of some services and possible building needs.

Eye Aid for UW Center

County board approval will be sought in January to enable the health, education and institutions committee to apply for federal aid either to construct a new University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center or to build an addition to the present center.

The committee instructed County Executive Secretary Alvin Woehler Thursday afternoon to obtain information on what federal aid programs are available and the method of applying for the aid.

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, chairman of the committee and also a member of the Fox Valley Center trustees, told the committee it was faced with the problem of turning students away from the center within two years unless something is done.

The county is faced with three alternatives, he said. The first is to do nothing, the second is to build library and auditorium facilities to make the present center adequate for six to ten years, and the third is to build a new center.

Center Jointly Operated

The center is operated jointly by Outagamie and Winnebago Counties. Indications have been that if Outagamie County wanted to go ahead with building a new center, Winnebago County would pull out of the venture.

One joint meeting has already been held between the two counties on the possibility of selling the present center and Outagamie County going alone on a new facility. There has been no official reaction from Winnebago County.

University Center system officials also have indicated that either a new center should be built or the present one expanded.

Committee member Herbert Helble, Appleton, indicated he was in favor of making a federal aid application but preferred going slowly on a decision. "I don't know enough yet to be able to support building a new center," he said.

He also questioned the possibility of finding a buyer for the present center building if the decision was made to construct a new center. "Who would buy the center? The new center, Winnebago County would pull out of the venture. Charles Olson May be New Port Manager

Hiring of Charles Olson, operator of Appleton Beechcraft Sales, as the part-time Outagamie County Airport manager at a salary of $5,500 a year has been recommended by the county board's airport committee.

The recommendation will be submitted to the executive committee next week.

Olson was selected over present airport manager Max Sagunsky and Harold Grandy, 3427 W. Spencer St., a retired Federal Aviation Agency official.

The salary proposal submitted by Olson was lowest of the three. Sagunsky had requested $5,700, the same as he is now getting as manager, and Grandy had requested $6,000.

Committee vote on recommending Olson was 3-0 with Kostka, Little Chute, abstaining. Kostka had opposed the original committee action in October of terminating Sagunsky's contract as manager.

Sagunsky has been county airport manager for 14 years and also is the fixed base operator at the airport.

County Might Finance Airport Project Landing System Decision Seen

A special meeting of Outagamie County Board's Executive Committee will be called either for Tuesday or Wednesday to determine whether the county should go ahead and install an instrument landing system (ILS) at the county airport at county expense.

The decision to call the special meeting was made Thursday at a meeting of the county's airport committee with A. W. Ponath, county corporation counsel; Del Drumm, Appleton Chamber of Commerce executive secretary; Sylvester Esler, county board chairman, and Harry Guest, head of Kimberly-Clark Corporation's aviation division.

Representatives from the state aeronautics commission and from Ralph Burke associates, the county's consulting engineer on the airport, also will be asked to attend.

The move was precipitated by information given county officials Wednesday by Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) officials in Washington, D. C., that federal funds for an ILS would not be available until 1972 at the earliest.

County officials were told, however, the FAA would assume responsibility for maintenance and operation of the system if it was installed by the county.

Estimated cost of installing the system with the necessary lighting was about $120,000.

"We have gone this far and we shouldn't stop now," Supv. Paul Kostka, Little Chute, chairman of the airport committee, said.

Ponath was to attempt to contact Fritz Wolf, director of the state aeronautics division of the Department of Transportation, to find out if state aid which the county has applied for on a runway project could be switched to the ILS project. The county was seeking aid of $35,000 in 1968 for an 800-foot extension of the northwest-southeast runway. However, that work has been rescheduled for 1970.

Esler said he did not think the county would have to appropriate any additional money for the ILS installation. The county has received about $80,000 from the City of Appleton for sale of land at the old airport site and additional funds are expected from that source early next year. This money goes into an airport trust fund and Esler said they would seek county board approval for use of that money for the ILS.

Guest told the committee that an ILS was necessary for Kimberly-Clark to operate its airplanes out of the field. He said the jets had to have equipment to enable them to make direct landing approaches over the runway because they lacked maneuverability while landing.

He added the system would also be of great help to Air Wisconsin in permitting it to operate in poorer weather conditions.

"An ILS will make you an all-weather airport," Guest said. He also indicated it would also eliminate the need for the installation of a terminal voice omni range system.

Esler also met Thursday with the public properties and insurance, health, education and institutions and agriculture committees to explain the proposal, and apparently received the support of a majority of those committee members.

The decision affects juveniles admitted to the State Department of Health and Social Services for confinement in legal actions in which they were not represented by counsel.

The Gault Decision extended the protections of adult criminal law throughout juvenile law.

The judges had been represented in the state's appeal to the State Supreme Court by Green Bay attorney Meyer Cohen. The Attorney General's Office brought the action, representing the department and the state.

35 Released

About 35 juveniles had been granted outright releases from state institutions under local court interpretations of the Gault Decision before the temporary writ was issued.

State officials have estimated that up to 1,000 youths could be affected by today's decision, many of them currently held in the Green Bay reformatory.

Temporary Writ

In September, the state court issued a temporary writ of prohibition blocking the outright releases and said the juveniles could still be released from the state institutions if they were returned for new trials to the courts which sentenced them.

"Operation Look Homeward," Widmann said, "is designed to acquaint our home-town students with the many papermaking career possibilities in the Fox Cities.

"Last year's program was greeted enthusiastically by those who turned out," Widmann said. "They found opportunities not only for a good education but for a good career in the industry, but for career counseling generally."

"Also, it provides an excellent chance for students to get together with our college men and women during the holidays," he added. Broehm will be seeking for his first four-year term at $10,000 a year. More than a year ago the city council increased the terms of mayor, city attorney, assessor and clerk from two to four years.

In a brief statement, Broehm declared, "With the progressiveness of the city and increase in the volume of detailed operations of city government, it is important that experience be retained in the office of city clerk."

Two years ago Broehm had opposition from a former city council member, Mrs. Dorothy Stullings.

After his internship at St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago, the doctor opened his private practice in Appleton in 1923. In 1929 and 1930 he did post-graduate work at the University of Vienna in Austria and at the University of London, England, the latter including studies under Dr. Warren Crowe on arthritis. Since that time he has taken other post-graduate work at medical centers in this country.

Court Continues Conduct Case

Louis Richardson, 21, Minneapolis, appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 this morning on a disorderly conduct charge brought by Appleton police following a disturbance at Story and Elsie streets about 2:25 a.m. today.

Judge Gustave J. Keller continued the case to Dec. 29 and set bond at $25. Richardson did not enter a plea. Police said they arrested the man after they were summoned to investigate a fight. They alleged that Richardson refused to show identification and became involved in a scuffle with them.

Nutcracker Filmed in Munich

BY TV SCOUT
6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7) — The rerun of a very beautiful production of Tchaikovsky's 'The Nutcracker' is fine family holiday viewing. Edward Villella, Melissa Hayden and Patricia McBride are the leading dancers in this lavish show filmed for television four years ago in Munich. Other roles are danced by leading performers of several European ballet troupes. As usual in this ballet, the loveliest piece of the evening is the serene snow scene. Eddie Albert is host. (C)

9-10 (Channel 5) — NBC News observes the 25th anniversary of the World War II North African campaign with 'Alamein: A Monty Memoir.' It tells the story of Field Marshall Sir Bernard L. Montgomery and the British Eighth Army's confrontation with the German Afrika Korps under Field Marshall Erwin Rommel. The German desert defeat was the first major loss of the war and called by many the turning point that led to the invasion of Europe. (C)

6:30-7:30 (Channel 5) — James Whitmore is the perfect picture of frantic frustration on Tarzan although the reason is never really clear. His engineering assistant, building a bridge in the jungle, is killed by a tiger and Whitmore arrives to get the work started again. (C)

Former Homicide Detective Kemp R. Niver of the Los Angeles police department examines motion pictures printed on paper rolls while demonstrating equipment he worked out to restore old American film classics. He devised a method of soaking and redrying the paper prints so they can be unrolled without cracking the emulsion, thus permitting each movie frame to be rephotographed on 16 mm film. Three hundred movies have been restored by his method instead of destroyed. (AP Wirephoto)

Barry Morse Returns To First Love—Theater

Relentless Pursuer of 'The Fugitive'
For 5 Years, Actor Grateful for Series

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Barry Morse, the actor who relentlessly pursued David Janssen in "The Fugitive" for five years, has gone back to his first love, the theater.
Morse, the long, lean Londoner with an impeccable public school accent, now is directing a play aiming for Broadway.
Since the dramatic windup of "The Fugitive" in late August, Morse has not visited California and has no plans to return for awhile.
"It must have seemed like more, but I appeared in only legal entanglements in tonight's Judd For The Defense. The lawyer takes the case of a firebrand labor leader suspected of complicity in a murder. He doesn't get too far with his client who breaks out of jail, taking his attorney with him as a hostage. Historic Unit Of Government Loses Identity

Beverage, Cigarette Tax Division Part Of Another Agency

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The State Beverage and Cigarette Tax Division, chief enforcement agency for liquor, beer and tobacco tax statutes and related laws since the repeal of the prohibition amendment more than three decades ago, will lose its separate identity on January 1.
James R. Morgan, secretary of the State Department of Revenue, said the action was timed to coincide with the scheduled retirement of Ellsworth Jones as chief of the division.
The division will be merged into a newly-created Division of Sales, Income and Excise Taxes now in the process of formation. An examination of candidates for the command of the new division has been held, but an appointment has not yet been made.

Reorganization Act
Morgan said the decision to eliminate the historic Beverage and Cigarette Tax Division resulted in part from the attachment of the enforcement functions of the division to the State Department of Justice, headed by the attorney general, under the recent state government reorganization act.
The act transferred more than 50 enforcement agents, headed by Gordon Corry, and left in the surviving beverage tax division mostly auditors and inspectors concerned with the administration of the excise taxes.
Also to be merged within the new Income, Sales and Excise Division will be the formerly separate Motor Fuel Tax Division. Dwight Mack, who headed that unit for many years, retired during the year and has not been replaced.

New 'Litterbug' Law Increases Penalties

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A new state law designed to dissuade the "litterbug" increases penalties for the dumping of refuse along highways or in the public waters of Wisconsin. The new penalty range is from $10 to $200, or 30 days in jail, or both. The law was sponsored by a group of assemblymen representing resort districts, including Assemblyman Clarence Wilger of Walworth County.

actor's business Nobody gets very excited when an American actor used a British accent. The trouble is that sometimes it is not done very well."
Morse had worked with "The Fugitive's" producer, Quinn Martin in other series, usually playing heavies including a Roman drug peddler and a French smuggler, and using a variety of accents.
"Quinn called one day to say he was sending over a script," Morse said, "and when it came I looked at it but couldn't find a villainous part I thought someone had switched scripts. Then Quinn called and asked me if I'd play Lieutenant Girard. I was surprised, but said yes."
Both Active in Theater
Barry and his actress wife, Sydney Sturgess, maintain apartments in London—which is home base—Los Angeles and Toronto where he worked for years. A son, Hayward, is an actor in England. Their daughter, an actress, is married and lives in Canada.
The Morses have been married for 28 years and find that two active careers in one family work out very well.
"We figured out that we have really been together a total of 10 or 12 years," said Morse. "It would be impossible for us to get bored."

Cary Grant Records Christmas Lullaby

NEW YORK (AP) — Cary Grant, charming leading man and movie superstar, has cut a Christmas record for children. "I never made a record before," said the actor who became a father for the first time at the age of 62 some 21 months ago.
The record, called "Christmas Lullaby," is done in the charming, sing-song fashion that made the actor's voice as imitated as any in show business. He also sings a few notes in the recording.

The gray-haired actor says singing is not a new experience for him. "I started out in vaudeville," he pointed out in an interview Monday night.
The flip side of the record is a collaboration between Grant and singer Peggy Lee called "Here's to You."
Grant said the proceeds from the record—which has moved into the top-ranked 34 Christmas recordings selected by Billboard magazine—will go to the Motion Picture Relief Fund.
The actor is estranged from Dyan Cannon, his 29-year-old fourth wife, whom he married on July 22, 1965. The couple has a daughter, Jennifer.

School Buses Allowed Use of Studded Tires

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The thousands of school buses in Wisconsin will be permitted to use studded tires in season under a new act of the Legislature. The previous section of the law limiting the use of such tires on other vehicles weighing not more than 6,000 pounds remains unchanged.

You Will Need a Dust Pan
To Play Bottle-Cap Catch

BY CAPPY DICK
Ten bottle caps and a dustpan can provide a lot of fun when used for the game of Bottle-Cap Catch which is today's fun-project for boys and girls.

The pitcher must toss the bottle caps, one at a time, and the catcher must try to scoop them out of the air with the dustpan.

For each cap that lands in the dustpan and remains there the catcher earns five points. Misses count for nothing.

After the 10th pitch the players change places, the catcher becoming the pitcher and the pitcher becoming the catcher.

The player who has the higher score when each has served five times as catcher and five times as pitcher wins the game.

Baby Aardvark Named Aardy

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Three months after her birth, Crandon Park's baby aardvark has a name. The long-nosed, badly wrinkled little animal will be known as Aardy.

Zoo officials chose the name from 1,405 entries submitted in a nationwide contest. The winning entry was submitted by a Miami ninth grader, Jackie Edmond.

Aardy is the second aardvark born in captivity, and the first ever in the Western Hemisphere.

Colorado Coach Not Certain About Starting Quarterback

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — University of Colorado coach Eddie Crowder says he will be able to name his starting quarterback today for Saturday's Bluebonnet Bowl meeting with the University of Miami, a seven-point favorite.

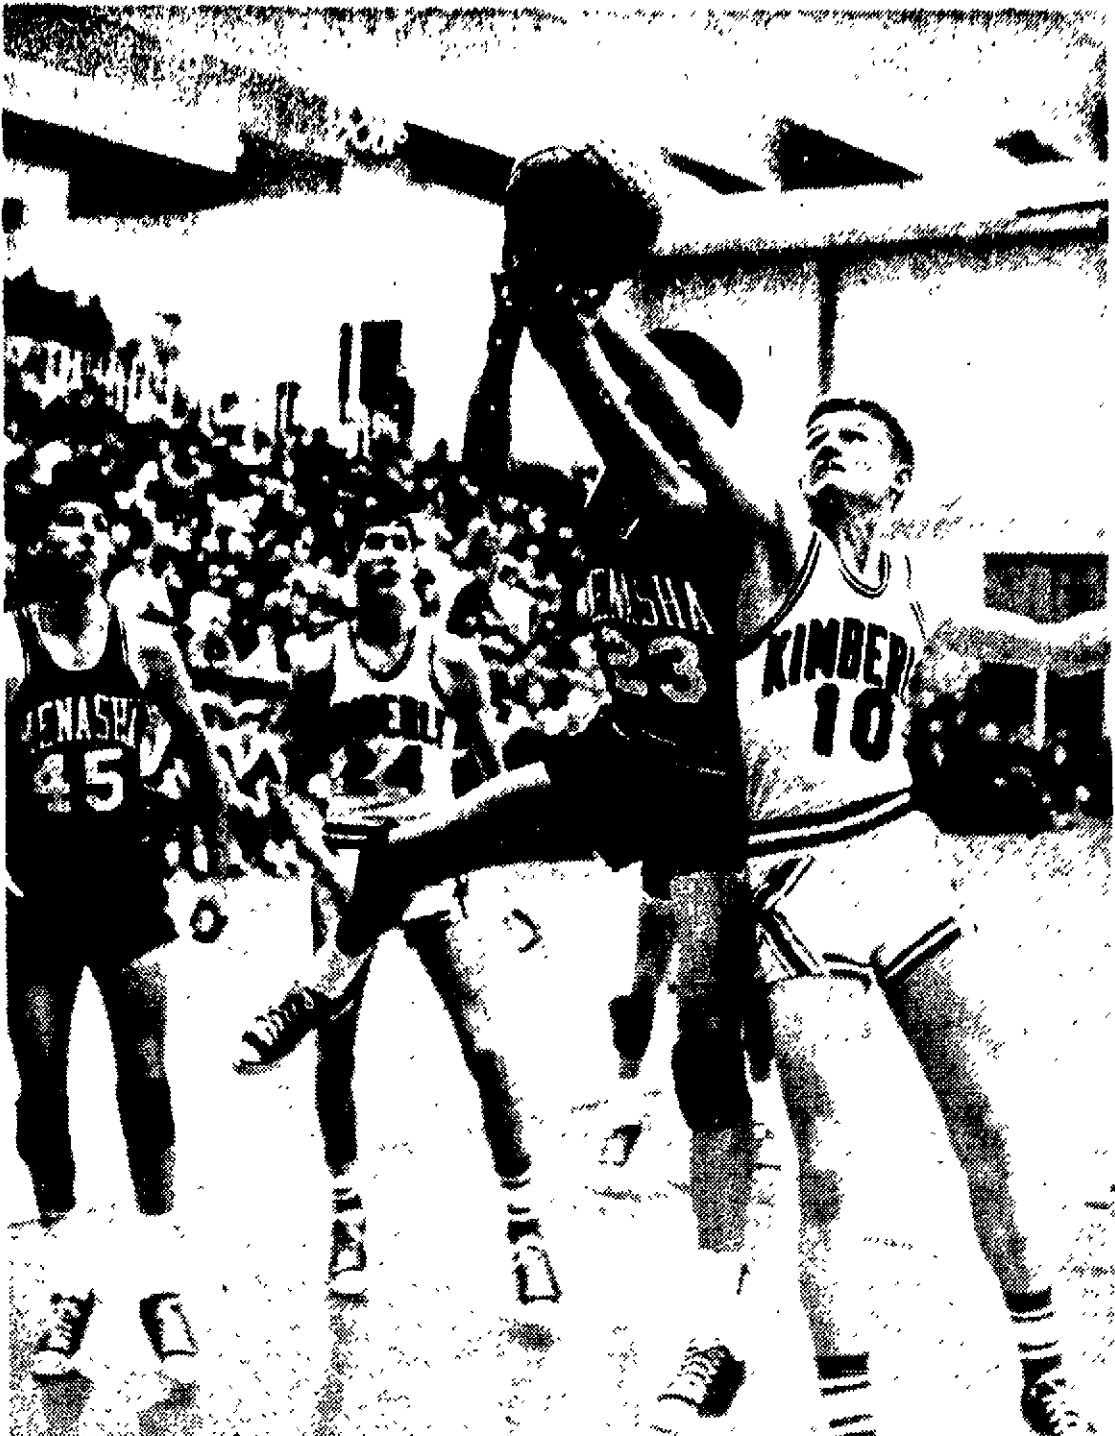

After practice on a wet field Thursday, Crowder said: "If I were playing right now, I'd start Dan Kelly." The 5-10 senior who was replaced as starter this year by sophomore Bob Anderson, a 200-pounder who led the team to an 8-2 record. Anderson twisted an ankle in the Air Force game and was still limping slightly when the Buffs arrived in Houston.

"If Kelly does start, you'll see a reckless little football player," Crowder told a news conference. "He'll get you on your feet with his quickness and speed."

Heavy Rains
Both teams arrived Thursday shortly before a cold front barged into town with heavy rains. The squads were treated to a barbecue, and Crowder said afterward it was hard to read whether his men were developing an appropriate distaste for the Hurricanes.

Speaking about Miami coach Charlie Tate, Crowder said, "Maybe Charlie will say something harsh about our players."

Two Rivers Quint Beats Kaukauna

TWO RIVERS — The Two Rivers Purple Raiders held Kaukauna High School's Dick Carstens and Denny Spice, the Mid-Eastern Conference's two top scorers, to 21 points between them and dealt the Ghosts a 75-68 defeat here Thursday night.

Both clubs had 28 field goals but the difference came at the free throw line, where the Raiders cashed in on 19 of 22 charity tosses. The Ghosts made 12 of 15 free throws. Two Rivers got nine of the free throws in the last period.

The Raiders received balanced scoring, with four players in double figures. Guard Tom Owens led with 17 points, and Lee Mueller added 14. Mark Tatrow topped the Ghosts with 15 markers.

Two Rivers led most of the game, holding 11-9 and 27-22 at the ends of the first two periods. Neither team was able to hit in the first half, as Kaukauna shot just 24 per cent and the home club 30 per cent from the floor.

Score 25 Points
Both teams came alive in the third period, however, as the Ghosts poured in 25 points and the Raiders 23. Kaukauna, still struggling to catch-up, managed to tie the score, at 34-all, and finally went ahead on Tatrow's rebound goal, at 44-43, with 1:19 left in the third period.

The game was tied again shortly thereafter at 48-all, as Kaukauna was now forced to foul in order to get the ball, and the Raiders took advantage of the situation by hitting three free throws. Rohan's jumper cut TR's margin back to 71-68, but Rueben Plantic's basket with 28 seconds left ended Ghost hopes. Steve Rezachek sank two more free losses with six seconds left to put the lid on the Raiders' and game's scoring.

KAUKAUNA (9-13-25-21—68) Carstens 3 2; Spice 5 2 4; Tatrow 7 1 3; Vock 6 2 3; Rohan 7 0 1; Egan 0 4 1; Totals 28-12-14, FTM—3.

Weather, Injuries May be Key Factors in Title Tilt

Packers Have Never Had Bigger Challenge Than Ram Game, Says Starr; Contrasting Odds Listed

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — "It might just be the greatest challenge we've ever faced."

The scene was the Packer dressing room, alive with conversation and quips Thursday afternoon in the hiatus between practice and squad meeting, and the speaker was Bart Starr, veteran of more title games than any quarterback in pro football history.

Oblivious to the somewhat boisterous backdrop, Starr was studiously attempting to assess the awesome task which confronts the Packers Saturday afternoon in Milwaukee County Stadium, where they struggle with the surging Los Angeles Rams for the National Football League's Western Conference championship.

"I think we may lose track of our feelings and emotions as the years go by," said Starr, who maneuvered the Packers to successive title triumphs in 1961 and '62, after a disappointment in the 1960 playoff at Philadelphia, and to another championship parlay in '65 and '66. "So this is difficult to say whether this would be our greatest challenge."

But there was no question, he emphatically indicated, about one point. "There never has been any bigger one," Starr declared. "There's no doubt about that."

Contrasting Sentiments
Some oddsmakers, at least those who hold forth in Las Vegas, reportedly are of the same opinion. They have installed the Rams, coming off a highly impressive, 34-10 conquest of the Colts last time out, as 3-point favorites in tomorrow's showdown.

In New York, however, there is contrasting sentiment. Gotham bookmakers, it is said, are listing the Packers as 1-point choices to continue their pursuit of an unprecedented third straight NFL title.

The great imponderable, aside from the Packers' physical condition, could be the weather. Northwestern winds of approximately 10 miles per hour and a high temperature of 20 degrees, considerably more frigid than the Rams are accustomed to in normally sunny California, are forecast for the Milwaukee area at game time.

This could be a factor, although Ram Coach George Allen reportedly has tried to instill in his athletes — highly sensitive to adverse conditions in the past — a disregard for the elements.

The primary concern, from a Packer standpoint, has to be the offensive backfield, which has been decimated by injuries. Rookie halfback Travis Williams and fullback Chuck Mercein, signed off the Washington Redskins' taxi squad after twice being released by the New York Giants, are the only entirely sound backs available.

However, Donny Anderson, who is troubled with a hip injury, and Ben Wilson, who is suffering from cracked ribs and a slight ankle sprain, are expected to draw the starting MARINETTE — Oshkosh Lourdes broke a 29-29 tie with two quick buckets at the outset of the final period and went on to 44-37 victory over Marinette Central Catholic Thursday night.

The triumph gives the Knights a 3-1 record in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference, while the Cavaliers have yet to win in four starts. Overall, Lourdes owns a 6-2 record, and Marinette is 0-6.

Dan Savinske and Rick Purtell got the key baskets at the beginning of the fourth quarter to put the Knights ahead for good. "Corky" Slawinski had tied the game for the Cavaliers with two goals late in the third frame. It was the only tie during the game.

Steve Meixensperger paced the winning Knights with 13 points and Savinske added eight. Slawinski took game scoring honors with 22 markers and Mike Van Eyck contributed 10.

Young Boxer Dies After Bout

BANGKOK (AP) — A Thai boxer died from a head injury of a scheduled five-round Thai-style flyweight bout.

Thirachai was repeatedly battered in the head during the first three rounds when he was on his hands and knees for mandatory counts a couple of times. But he refused to be counted out and stood up to fight in spite of his handker's appeal to throw in the towel.

After his knockout he was carried out on a stretcher and sent to the central hospital for an operation. He remained unconscious until he died.

Doctors at the hospital said he died of a brain hemorrhage.

so they can read it in the paper."

"You got a great ball club, Eddie," called Tate, who refused to give the Bufts any edge for the charity classic.

Tate said Colorado is "a team a great deal like us... a four-deep defense and the same stunts."

Whichever quarterback Crowder chooses will have to face Ted Hendricks, thought of as the Hurricanes' greatest defensive player of all time.

"He's tall and lean and strong, and he forces the quarterback, tracks runners from behind and has personally forced nine turnovers. He's the best one I've ever coached," Tate said.

Miami's running game is the big difference between the teams, Crowder believes. The Colorado coach conceded that Miami is physically stronger and is equipped with more runners.

Talking about the seven-point edge granted Miami, 7-3 this year, Crowder said, "I'm told those observations are made by reports."

"I'd rather be the underdog," said Tate. "But if we're favored by seven points, I'll tell my boys to play up to it if they can."

Crowder reported one minor injury in Thursday's workout. Offensive tackle Mike Montler hurt his knee, but was expected to be okay by this afternoon's final session.

Tate said he would stage a lengthy indoor session today, but nothing outside. "We haven't worked out on Friday all year. What's 30 minutes anyway—all they do is get silly and get hurt."

Hand Says Rams Will Win

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — It is hard to imagine a Vince Lombardi-coached team losing three in a row but the Hand-picker is tabbing the aroused Los Angeles Rams to beat the Green Bay Packers Saturday in the big pro football game of the weekend.

Dallas should rise to the occasion in the Cotton Bowl and knock off the Cleveland Browns Sunday in the Eastern Conference final to set up a Ram-Cowboy battle for the NFL title Dec. 31 at Los Angeles.

All are on television (CBS). Houston, needing only a win or tie over improved Miami Saturday night to eliminate the New York Jets, should qualify for the AFL championship game at Oakland, also Dec. 31.

The regular NFL season ended last Sunday with a 72-31-

Flyers Hand North Stars 6-0 Setback

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The soaring Philadelphia Flyers have penetrated Minnesota's stubborn defenses—and left Cesare Maniago's fortress in a shambles.

The Flyers blanked Minnesota 6-0 Thursday night, ending goalie Maniago's shutout streak at three games—one short of the National Hockey League record—and hanging on to first place in the league's West Division race.

In the only other game scheduled, the Los Angeles Kings trimmed Pittsburgh 4-1 to remain two points behind Philadelphia in the scramble for the expansion division pennant.

Maniago, whom the North Stars picked up from New York in last summer's expansion draft, extended his scoreless string to 188 minutes and 38 seconds before Pat Hannigan beat him with a 10-foot shot early in the first period at Philadelphia. Claude Laforte also scored in the first period for the Flyers and goals by Forbes Kennedy, Gary Dornhoefer, Leon Rochefort and Lou Angotti completed the rout.

Bill Flett's goal late in the second period broke a 1-1 tie at Los Angeles and the Kings wrapped up the victory on third period markers by Bob Wall and Brian Smith.

Adams May Move Oilers, Tired of Making Up Deficit

HOUSTON (AP) — The oil man who owns the Houston Oilers, K. S. "Bud" Adams Jr., says he is tired of making up a $300,000 deficit each year for the privilege of watching seven home games in Rice Stadium.

Seattle, he says, might be a happier home for his club. "I'll have a good indication whether they want us to stay after we begin our season ticket sale in February," he said. "We lost more than 4,000 season tickets this year compared with last year. If we were to go down to 7,000 in 1968 there's no question I'd move the team."

Incidentally, we did pick three of the four NFL division winners in the preseason series with the Rams, Packers and Cowboys coming through. But Pittsburgh? What happened, Bill Austin?

NFL

Los Angeles 27, Green Bay 20 (Saturday)—The Rams had to get lucky with a blocked punt in the final minute to shade the Packers 27-24. Green Bay crippled then and still lists Jim Grabowski as doubtful. Donny Anderson and Ben Wilson to play with injuries. Home field and weather advantage would seem to give Packers the advantage but the Fearsome Foursome chased Bart Starr out of the pocket two weeks ago and should do it again after manhandling John Unitas last week. Rams have momentum. Packers are the old pros. We just have to believe this is the year of the Rams.

Dallas 21, Cleveland 14 (Sunday)—Battle of battered quarterbacks with Don Meredith playing despite broken nose and damaged knee and Frank Ryan troubled by ankle and arm injuries. When they met opening day Cowboys won 21-14 on two TD passes by Meredith and interception by Chuck Howley. Dallas intercepted Ryan three times and smeared him four while holding Leroy Kelly to 11 yards and Ernie Green to six. Cowboys inconsistent, but best at home. Browns finished strong, forgetting last week's second string effort at Philadelphia.

Bradley Challenges UCLA

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer One of these nights some team may shoot a phenomenal 80 per cent from the field and make college basketball history by upsetting UCLA and Mr. A.

It may be tonight when the national champion Bruins and their Mr. A., as towering Lew Alcindor is called on the campus, go after their 38th consecutive victory against Bradley in Los Angeles.

The Missouri Valley Conference Braves from Peoria, Ill., have an eight-game winning streak going and are primed for an all-out effort against the Bruins who haven't played in two weeks.

UCLA, top-ranked in The Associated Press poll and Bradley No. 10, did not play Thursday night. Boston College was the only team in the AP Top Ten to see action. The eighth-ranked Eagles routed Providence 88-70 in the final of the Boston Garden Christmas Invitational tourney behind Jim Kissane's 27 points and 19 rebounds.

Gains Revenge Kansas and Louisville, which dropped out of the AP Top Ten last week, battled through two overtimes before 13,977 at Louisville before the Jayhawks turned the tables on the Cardinals 84-76. Louisville beat Kansas 57-51 at Lawrence several weeks ago.

Jo Jo White threw in 21 points to lead the Jayhawks, who came from behind to tie the regulation game at 60-60. Butch Beard, with 24, and Westley Unseld, with 23, led the Cardinals who rallied to tie the first overtime at 72-72, but got only four points in the second OT when Bruce Sloan and Phil Harmon got hot for Kansas.

Marshall's Thundering Herd won the Marshall Invitational at Huntington, W.Va. by defeating Manhattan 85-78 as George Stone, Bob Redd and Jim Davidson each tallied 21 points.

Sooners Nipped

Arizona State edged Oklahoma 59-58 on Roger Deltzer's two free throws in the last minute and qualified to meet Michigan in tonight's final of the Sun Devil Classic at Phoenix. Michigan whipped Oregon State 80-61 in the other first round game behind the 22 points by soph Rudy Ponjanovich and his 20 rebounds.

Lamonica Selected as AFL's Most Valuable

By CHARLES MCMURTRY

Associated Press Sports Writer OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A quarterback whose best season at Notre Dame was 5-5, who was drafted 24th by a team that never started him, then traded him away, is 1967's Most Valuable Player in the American Football League.

He is Daryle Lamonica of the Oakland Raiders, champion of the AFL's Western Division. His selection by 27 sports writers and 'casters for The Associated Press award was announced Thursday.

Informed of the honor as he was putting on his uniform, Lamonica gasped, "O-o-h!" in surprise, then exclaimed: "I'm almost speechless."

"That's one of the highest honors I've ever had. It's a once in a lifetime thing. It's fantastic. It's really kind of a shock — and a great feeling."

"I can't give my teammates enough credit. I made a lot of mistakes. They were patient all season and helped me a lot."

Oakland's Coach of the Year, John Rauch, also selected for The AP by sports writers and sports casters, warmly applauded Daryle's selection.

Rauch — in only his second year as a head coach — is responsible for the trade that brought Lamonica from Buffalo last spring. He patiently tutored Lamonica in the intricacies of his complex offense system.

Under them, Oakland won the Western title with a 12-1 mark and goes for an AFL record in the regular season finale here Sunday against Buffalo. San Diego set the record at 12-2 in 1961.

Buffalo tied it in 1964, when it won the championship. Lamonica, a reserve quarterback, came off the bench five times to win games in which the Bills were trailing.

BESSEMER, Mich. — There isn't much Christmas joy in the snow belt of the Upper Peninsula today.

After one of the earliest starts in midwestern skiing history, high temperatures and unseasonal rains, which could have been snow, have closed down operations on most hills.

"How bad is it?" Jack English, manager of Indianhead, was asked.

Fond du Lac and Southwest Quints Post Victories

Fond du Lac's Cardinals ran past Sheboygan South, 75-60, and Green Bay Southwest routed Preble, 68-43, in Fox River Valley Conference cage games Thursday night.

Fondy's victory was its fourth in seven games in the league, while South's loss left the Redmen with a 1-5 mark. Southwest evened its record at 3-3 in FRVC play, and Preble, stayed in the cellar with an 0-6 mark.

Two more games are on the docket for tonight, as Sheboygan North and Appleton East battle in Seims gym. They are tied for third place with 3-1 records. Second-place Appleton West (4-1) visits Oshkosh (3-2).

On the brighter side, the hotels and motels are still booked completely up for the New Year's weekend, and only a few cancellations have come in.

If anyone knows any powerful snow dances, now is the time.

Don't forget the opening session of the Post-Crescent Ski School on Thursday Jan. 4. The indoor meeting starts at 7 p.m. at Madison Junior High School. It will feature two ski films and tips on how to get off on both feet for your skiing career.

They're going to be wearing metallic silver, form-fitting ski outfits, supposedly to cut down on wind resistance.

Tom Reikowski led UW-M with 27 points as the Panthers marked the fourth time this season they've scored more than 100 points.

Kelth Koppen was high for Monmouth with 25. UW-M is 6-2 for the season and Monmouth, of the Midwest Conference, is 0-2.

Bullets Stop Bulls in Final Two Minutes

CHICAGO (AP) — The Baltimore Bulls pulled away in the final two minutes Thursday night on the strength of rookie Earl Monroe to sink the Chicago Bulls 116-108 in a ragged National Basketball Association contest.

Baltimore's victory, its 12th against 19 losses in the league's Eastern Division, was achieved despite the injury to starter Gus Johnson and illness to John Egan and Don Ohl.

The Bulls, who lost the lead late in the second quarter, were knocked off for the 11th time in 13 outings on their home court. Monroe, a 6-3 rookie, who was held to four free throws in the first half, picked up 21 markers in the second half to help send the Bulls down to their 25th loss.

Adcock Named to Manage Seattle For 1968 Season

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Joe Adcock was named Thursday to manage the Seattle baseball team which will play next season in the Pacific Coast League and become an American League expansion team in 1969.

Max Soriano, president of the team, announced the signing of the former major league first baseman and ex-manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Adcock will succeed Chuck Tanner, who remained with the California Angel Organization when it sold the Seattle franchise to Soriano's group, Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc. Adcock has been replaced by Alvin Dark at Cleveland.

The Cleveland contract had a year to run and that club will pay the difference between Adcock's Coast League managerial salary and the amount of his uncompleted contract.

Oakland Sets Offensive and Defensive Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland's Western Division champion Raiders clinched their title two weeks ago and haven't lost since October. It stands to reason that they are leading in more than the standings.

Statistics released by the American Football League today confirm that suspicion.

The Raiders lead the league in both over-all offense and over-all defense. You can't get much better than that.

Oakland had gained 4,844 yards rushing and passing, 121 more than the New York Jets, who lead in passing offense with 3,529 yards and are second in over-all offense.

Kansas City leads in rushing offense with 2,018 yards gained.

VAN STEEN FORD

The Legislature's Record

When Gov. Knowles ran for re-election a year ago, he appealed to the voters to send to Madison with him a friendly legislature, having had the problem in his first term of dealing with a wary and sometimes difficult and hostile opposition majority in one house.

One wonders today, in contemplating the governor's troubles with a legislature controlled by men of his own party affiliation, whether he is as certain as he used to be about the advantage of nominal partisan identification in the direction of state affairs.

The governor invested more labor and persuasion and imagination and stumping in his cause of a strengthened highway safety code during the last two years than any governor in our recollection devoted to any other major goal or enterprise. Although the effort did not fail wholly, and the legislature managed to write into law a series of useful and constructive additions to the controls over highway users, the major causes of a uniform beer drinking age and an implied consent law providing for the testing of suspected drunks on the highways were finally throttled by the recalcitrant lawmakers.

Normally these columns have urged restraint in the use of advisory referenda on questions that the legislature faces, believing it should have the capacity and the courage to resolve them on its own responsibility. But we regret that in this instance, when the governor knew since last summer that the special interests involved in the liquor question were besting him, that he did not offer an advisory referendum earlier.

Because of the persuasive and voluminous body of evidence on the relation of drink and highway accidents, and the governor's strenuous efforts in hundreds of speeches on the subject, we believe that there would have been a favorable vote on both of the disputed questions. In that event, it might have put some starch into the attitudes of some weak-kneed legislators who showed that they are unable to resist the manifestly selfish importunings of the hired lobbyists and their allies.

Taken on the whole, however, and remembering the work of the legislature earlier in 1967, the record for the year will probably be appraised by most attentive persons as fair to good.

On the face of it, the legislature managed to achieve a balanced budget without levying new general taxes, although the margin is admittedly a very thin one unless revenue experience is better than the official forecasts have shown. Yet such forecasts in the past have tended to be on the cautious side, so there is a good chance that the administration claim will be validated. Thus Wisconsin will stand out as one of the very few states in the country which avoided new impositions on its taxpayers this year, and the only one in the Midwest. The campaign value equivalent of that record in 1968 is reasonably obvious, which is why the Democrats have tried their best to refute it during the 11 months since the legislature's convening.

Among other enactments, no doubt the most far-reaching and promising is the state government reorganization act, which will bear the name of our neighbor William R. Kellett in the historical record of these times because he headed the commission which drafted it.

The reduction of the number of agencies which had grown out of control, and their fusion along functional lines, bear promise of a more efficient and responsible state administration. Whether it will assure more economical operations cannot be assured. The quality of men, as well as tables of organization, are involved there. But we would venture that when the historian half a century hence studies the politics of the 1960's in Wisconsin, the Kellett Act will stand as the principal and most significant and best remembered legislative landmark.

The New Post Office

Appleton residents already may have received a very welcome Christmas present.

The announcement by representatives of the U.S. Postal Department that options have been obtained on a site for a proposed new Post Office Building here can be heralded by all as good news.

It was about a year ago when Senator Baylond Nelson announced he had received notification from the Postal Department that Appleton's need for a new postal facility had been officially recognized and the planning of a future building project was underway.

The President's News Conference

President Johnson's televised news conference, in which he was asked about a number of foreign and domestic problems, brought out only a little new in the overriding issue of concern, the war in Vietnam. His apparent encouragement to President Thieu to find out a way of talking with the National Liberation Front is something which the United States has not done before despite pledges of meeting anyone, any time and any place to discuss peace.

Such a move by President Thieu seems highly unlikely at this time although the new South Vietnamese leader has said he is willing to hold such conversations. Officials of South Vietnam were understandably perturbed over rumors that American representatives were going to meet with NLF delegates. The fear of an American sell-out because of pressures at home is very real in South Vietnam.

But the main thing that came out of the President's news conference is that it is no vehicle for presenting his ideas and no way to gain the confidence of the people of the United States. The President is reportedly a humorous man but there was no humor at the news conference. His insistence that the South Vietnamese people demand a one man, one vote constitutional government seemed unreal in the light of what even the everyday American knows about Asian governments and politics. The President appears tired, as well he may be, and even petulant. When pressed by one of the newsmen on a point dealing with the problems of the cities, the President snappishly demanded an answer of the reporter in what was at the very least a display of bad manners.

The problems President Johnson faces in the year ahead are tremendous. The country is not united on the war or the urban violence. Some racial antagonisms have hardened. There is a vague sense of unrest in much of the country as old ideals have fallen and the new ones appear shallow.

President Johnson may be as well equipped as any American to deal with these problems. But that image does not come across at a staged televised news conference.

1867 Holiday Plans, Notices

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Dec. 21, 1867.

There is to be a shooting match (turkey shoot) on the Fairgrounds on Christmas Day. Bring out your rifles and enjoy the sport.

On Christmas Day, the various public offices will be closed. The Post Office will close at 10 a.m. and reopen at 4 p.m.

Neighbor! In the midst of holiday glee, remember the dead soldier's mother, or his widow, or his fatherless little ones. Send them something needful.

Christmas Eve will be celebrated in a social way by the Odd Fellows and their families at their hall on Tuesday next. A Christmas tree will contain many good things.

25 YEARS AGO
Friday, Dec. 18, 1942.

Miss June Gerhart sang the Christmas hymn "Silent Night" as one of the features of the holiday assembly concert by the Appleton High School Band. The Christmas theme of the "Parade of the Tinker Toys" was intertwined with the older melody by Hans Gruber. The arrangement was the work of Miss Anna Seig, instructor in instrumental music in Appleton Public Schools.

Dewey Brandt, Menasha, bowled a scratch 680 series with games of 253-215-212 to place the Leopold team in the Hendy Recreation League in first place.

Miss Elizabeth Eck, Page's Point, was the unanimous choice of senior class advisers at Menasha High School for the DAR Good Citizenship award.

Mrs. William Desmond, route 1, Bear Creek, was named "Mrs. Typical March of Dimes Contributor" by the Outagamie County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Mrs. Paul V. Cary was the county chapter chairman and F. John Barlow the March of Dimes chairman for Outagamie County.

Belle Cherkasky, president of the Kaukauna High School drama group, The Jesters, Bridget Brenzel, vice president, and Florence Schmidt, secretary-treasurer, were in charge of the Christmas play being presented in a student assembly.

Margaret Courtney was first-place winner and Kurtis Mau second-place winner in the Kaukauna High photo contest sponsored by the Camera Club. The contest was open to the entire student body.

Taylor Writes

Bavarian Minister Brought First Christmas Tree to America

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — This is the American home of the Christmas tree. It wasn't made the center of our yuletide until as late as 1842. Williamsburg's Rev. Charles Frederick Minnegrode, an utterly charming Bavarian immigrant who had an earthy humor very close to the land and to life, is authoritatively credited with the joyous tree's introduction at Tucker House here.

Taylor

Pastor Minnegrode noted that an evergreen with sparkling candles and bits and pieces of colored glass had been introduced in England only a year earlier by Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's consort, on the second Christmas after their marriage.

Soon it meant to the whole Christian world what Christmas means — light and laughter, love and tenderness, sympathy and good impulses, dedicated to the well-being of all and especially to children.

GREAT HUMAN MOMENT

Emerson said, "Write it in your heart that every day is the best day of the year." This is not easy to do when we see on all sides a world divided by war and chaos. How much misery there is that man can cause! How little he seems to care! But certainly Christmas is our greatest human moment, offering its simple, clear proof, and reaffirming in its instant that the basic elements of human goodness and affectionate impulse so often buried in the heart of man are nevertheless as universal as the light of the sun.

Do you know anyone who would not help another to trim his Christmas tree?

And when we say, "Merry Christmas, Happy Christmas," you and I and all of us are born again in the spirit of these exalted words and of our Great Lord. For the amazing idea that man should be brother to man . . . that was out in the Ohio River. He was employed in Indiana at the time.

the blazing star which dawned that first midnight . . . beautiful light, pointing the long, hard, hopeful way to the better world we hope and pray for.

As Christmas comes into the recesses of all hearts, bringing its song of faith, what a marvelous thing it is for each of us that there should be such a wonderful day by which we measure and date — B.C., A.D. — time itself.

A nation's real home is its inner spirit. We hear of the war on poverty. But spiritual poverty is certainly America's No. 1 enemy. A country is the sum of its people. Our country will be precisely what we are — no more, no less. The Holy Lord on the Cross said: "I thirst." So must we — for spiritual improvement. The hour is late and the threat is great.

There are many dangers as discipline is eroded in our religious teachings and as the concept of divinity ceases to become what the Spanish call a cosa sagrada, a sacred thing.

We not only cannot "live on bread alone" we cannot even be truly progressive, regardless of our economic level, unless we have within ourselves a green pasture on which our souls can feed.

NEED SPIRITUAL RESERVOIR

Many of our most dangerous problems — in our cities, in the family, in politics, in education and most certainly in our definitions of welfare — arise from the false assumption that the material environment outside the American people has the power to create happiness. Nothing outside can do this if no spiritual reservoir is constructed and sustained inside.

When nations or individuals fix too exclusively on outside things they tip over and go down. And the Golden Rule — "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you" — goes down with them.

No nation in history has ever been saved by its gross national product. And until a man has studied the character of our Savior and the effect of His teachings, no other study and no other wisdom is worthwhile.

One object of the Bible, of course, is to teach us to live better as children of God — a little lower than the angels, but faithful, confident, unafraid.

We are the children our Savior never had.

As our hopes reach out on Christmas to all points of the earth — and beyond, into space — we need His teachings. He who founded all progressive thought, beyond any other conceivable need in our great and troubled country.

A merry, merry Christmas, one and all

Opposes Taking Private Land for Park Purposes

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Sometime ago, Governor Romney of Michigan stated there were two kinds of brainwashing. One was the Communist kind and the other was the LBJ variety. We here in Northeastern Wisconsin have been subjected to a new type. We call it the "Bubolz Brainwashing".

Perhaps we do need more recreation areas, but do we need them so bad as to put property owners under financial and emotional duress, and threaten to do everything short of condemning their land to get it?

In this day and age of higher taxes the township and county needs every bit of tax base it has, not to mention these parks have to be paid for initially and paid to be maintained.

I agree with Mr. Bubolz one hundred per cent when he says "The Mosquito Hill area is one of the most natural and picturesque sites in Outagamie County". The best way to keep it that way is for the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission to keep their nose out and leave the neighborhood peaceful and quiet as it is now.

If anyone who owns any property and approves this type of action would ask himself this question: If I owned property, be it a home or land, would I like to see someone come in and threaten to take it away from me for park purposes? ? ?

Minimum Beer Age Issue Will be Back Before Legislature

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The year-long fight on the issue of beer age uniformity ended in confusion, frustration and failure.

No one who watched the long struggle over the demand of Gov. Knowles for a uniform law as an important contribution to safety on the highways can doubt that such a conclusion is precisely what the opponents of the idea, and notably the beer trades, wanted, hoped for and planned.

Wyngaard

It had been reported here earlier, when the fate of the proposal appeared extremely dubious, that a referendum on the question would be offered by the administration as a substitute or compromise. That the opponents of a higher and uniform beer age also put to death that idea can fairly be construed to mean that they do not have the confidence of popular backing that matches their influence with the people's representatives in the legislative process.

SENATE SAW MERIT

The defeat of Gov. Knowles was actually a narrow one. At one point he was turned back by a single vote in the Assembly. The State Senate consistently supported his position that the only practicable uniformity rule would be one setting the minimum age at 21 years. The governor can derive some comfort from the fact, therefore, that the men of the Legislature who have the most experience agreed with his position. Whatever his own political future, the narrowness of his defeat will be remembered as the problem of "beer islands" remains.

Thus it may be reasonably surmised that the issue will remain. As the problem continues in the public eye, another leader at another time will pursue the solution. The legislative halls have not yet heard the last of the dispute.

The failure of the so-called "implied consent" bill to rid the highways of intoxicated drivers was considerably different. Although there was also some sideline intervention from the liquor trades, by all accounts, there were some honest and thoughtful men who hesitated on the question because of the traditional and civil libertarian principle against self-incrimination. The fact that the courts have modified that idea considerably was not yet persuasive enough, although one day it may be. This was shown by the precedent of other states and the recommendation of the national government in the promulgation of safety standards for the states for such a statute, among others for the improvement of the highway accident rate.

OBSCURED SOME ADVANCES

The beer age and implied consent bills, because they were the most controversial, dominated the publicity from the Legislature on the highway safety question and tended to obscure some of the affirmative results for which the governor can claim credit.

Other bills in the governor's program that were approved included a modified reexamination requirement, in the legislation that will require walk-in eye testing for drivers whose permits are expiring, random inspection of motor vehicles with a larger state traffic patrol, and universal driver training for all first time driving permit applicants under the age of 18.

The state will have a strong and separate motorcycle control code as a result of the governor's campaign. This means that anybody who mounts one of the machines in the future must be able to prove that he has been specifically examined for the operation of a motorcycle, as well provision for a uniform traffic citation and complaint form for all of the enforcement agencies, state, local and county, must be counted as an advance in efficient enforcement, and the adjudication of traffic cases.

TESTS FOR DECEASED

The Legislature also consented to the establishment of a state traffic law enforcement coordination agency and gave it enough money to provide a staff that may bring some hope for better teamwork among the sometimes jealous enforcement jurisdictions. The new law for the mandatory testing of all deceased persons, drivers, passengers or pedestrians, in traffic accidents will provide more proof of the findings thus far in spot testing — that intoxication is the single most serious traffic hazard.

Strictly Personal

How Would We View A Second Coming?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

If there should be, on Christmas night, a second coming, would there not be a second crucifixion?

And this time, not by the Romans or the Jews, but by those who proudly call themselves Christians?

Harris

I wonder I wonder how we today would regard and treat this man with his strange and frightening and "impractical" doctrines of human behavior and relationships. Would we believe and follow, any more than the masses of people in His day believed and followed?

Would not the militarists among us assail Him as a cowardly pacifist because He urges us not to resist evil?

Would not the nationalists among us attack Him as a dangerous internationalist because He tells us we are all of one flesh?

Would not the wealthy among us castigate Him as a troublemaking radical because He bars the rich from entering the kingdom of heaven?

Would not the liberals among us dismiss Him as a dreamy vagabond because He advises us to take no thought for the morrow, to lay up no treasures upon earth?

Would not the ecclesiastics among us denounce Him as a ranting heretic because He cuts through the cords of ritual and commands us only to love God and our neighbors?

Would not the sentimentalists among us deride Him as a cynic because He warns us that the way to salvation is narrow and difficult?

Would not the Puritans among us despise and reject Him because He eats and drinks with publicans and sinners, preferring the company of winebibbers and harlots to that of "respectable" church members?

Would not the sensual among us scorn Him because He fasts for 40 days in the desert, neglecting the needs of the body?

Would not the proud and important among us laugh at Him when He instructs the 12 disciples that he who would be "first" should be the one to take the role of the least and serve all?

Would not the worldly-wise and educated among us be aghast to hear that we cannot be saved except we become as children, and that a little child shall lead us?

Would not each of us in his own way find some part of this man's saying and doing to be so threatening to our ways of life, so much at odds with our rooted beliefs, that we could not tolerate Him for long?

I wonder.

WEEKLY FARM SECTION OF THE POST-CRESCENT

Christmas Down on the Vincent Baum Farm Another Year of Waiting at City's Edge

Grand Chute Family of 9 To Mark Yuletide With Religious Home Traditions

Christmas down on the farm this year has special meaning for the Vincent Baum family of Appleton.

It may be one of the last they spend on the family homestead. The aging farm buildings represent a sharp contrast to the encroaching urban communities.

The farm is located within a mile of Appleton in a growing urbanized section of the Town of Grand Chute and the purr of vehicles whistling along U.S. 41.

The history of the Baum family closely parallels that of the Woodlawn 4-H Club of which he serves as leader. Seven of the nine children have been members at one time. Today, there are four Baums in the club. The younger two are looking forward to joining when they are 9.

Home for Christmas

John at 21 is the eldest of the Baum family and works at Great Northern Container, south of Appleton. He has hopes of one day owning and operating a farm.

Sister Rose Vincent, Mary Kay, is a junior at the Franciscan Sisters' Holy Family College at Manitowoc. She'll spend Christmas Day with the family.

Christine works at Gaarder & Miller, Inc. of Appleton, an accounting firm.

Kenneth is an eighth grader at St. Pius X school in Appleton. Charles is in fifth grade and Rosann in second at Pius.

Roger, a first grader at Franklin Elementary School in Appleton, will be 7 Dec. 26 so it's an extra special time for him. He is the only farm boy in his class and recently wanted to bring a pet calf to school. After some discussion with the family he settled for a kitten.

Town of Neenah

Baum's parents settled on the present farm about 1909 coming from another in the Town of Neenah (Winnebago County).

Vincent and his wife knew

each other as youngsters and through the years their paths seemed to cross until they were married in Paris during World War II. She was with a unit of nurses that had come over to France. He spent three Christmases overseas serving in Casablanca, Morocco, in Italy near Rome and finally in southern France.

Her unit was scheduled to leave for duty in the Far East and he was on the verge of returning to the U. S. after V-E Day.

After a year of living in Appleton the couple moved to the home farm and he assumed its operation. He later built the house in which they now live. There are 65 acres left to the home farm although counting other parcels nearby Baum farms about 160 acres.

One of the many Christmas traditions continued on the farm gives an indication of the changing times. In a letter to friends which accompanied their Christmas cards this year they wrote, "We are happy the growth of our city has not pushed us off our farm since it is a wonderful place for a family. As you can see we are not ready to retire yet."

Close to Schools

The farm in its near-urban location has some advantages. Schools are close for the children to return home for lunch and some of the services offered by the urban center's businesses are close at hand.

However, in recent years there has been a phasing out and moving out for farm machinery dealers in Appleton, some of them reopening with newer facilities on the edges of the city. In other instances needed farm machinery parts must be obtained from Seymour.

The Baums raise most of their vegetable and meat needs. Usually one of the children in the 4-H has a gardening project. Mrs. Baum cans about 1,000 quarts of vegetables each year. She makes use of a freezer so she can stretch out the process over a longer period than usual.

The boys return from school and immediately tie into pre-assigned farm chores. The farm selling offers a more enriched family life, the Baums feel.

The farm is close to major highways so cattle escaping from pens could be a problem. However, modern farm innovations all but rule out that problem. The cattle have feed brought to them.

Marking Time

Due to the location and growing urban areas any capital improvements on the farm must be ruled out. There wouldn't be ample time to recover the cost from annual profits from the farm operation. They must continue to wear out existing facilities while marking time and awaiting the inevitable.

Christmas, however, continues to be a happy time down on the farm. Life doesn't change much during the holiday season. The farm chores still remain.

The family has always celebrated its Christmas on Christmas Eve which permits their father to be with them. Years ago the children would be hustled outside for play or off to bed for a nap before "preparations" could get into full swing. The tree was usually decorated in the morning in anticipation of Santa's coming.

Now it's a matter of double wrapping packages so the labels on the contents don't prematurely give away secrets.

St. Nicholas

When the senior Mrs. Baum, now 85, was able the tradition of St. Nicholas became a standard occasion to remember. She would don a shawl and red cap and grab a cow bell and make her official visitation to the family.

Their Catholic religion was always part of the Christmas tradition. Somebody from the family always attended midnight mass. This year Kenneth will be a server at the service at St. Pius church.

When the Baums were married his godmother sent him a Nativity scene crib and it since has held a cherished spot in the home's holiday decor.

But Christmas would not be Christmas without the goodies from the kitchen. Mrs. Baum will be preparing kolaches, a Bohemian pastry, Christmas bread and molasses cookies. Years ago the senior Mrs. Baum would make popcorn balls and it was always off to grandmother's house for Christmas dinner.

Rosann Tells Her Mom about a favorite cookie.

Vince Also is Grand Chute fire chief and a soil and water conservation district director.

Milk Priced According to System of Classified Use

Milk sold under a market wide federal order is priced according to use and known as classified pricing.

Class I is milk and cream sold in bottled form. Class II is milk in excess of Class I or "reserve" milk. It goes into butter, powder and cheese.

Because of the seasonal nature of the milk business and changes in consumption patterns the amount of milk going into these classes varies.

Thus the utilization percentage (amount of milk required for Class I purposes) varies each month. The higher the Class I utilization percentage the better the price to producers. If the utilization percentage drops, the producer prices follow.

The producer receives a blend of Class I and II prices. For example, consider Class I milk at $5 per cwt and Class II $4. If the utilization percentage on 1,000 pounds of milk is 50-50 the total 1,000 pounds brings $45 when sold to his dairy plant. ($25 Class I, $20 Class II). The farmer gets $4.50 per cwt.

The higher the Class I utilization the higher the price to producers. If the Class I utilization declines the producer's blend price also declines.

Richard, Ken and Edward debate merits of tractor.

New Federal Law

Meat Inspection Tightened

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is already taking steps necessary for immediate implementation of the new Wholesome Meat Act.

"The 7 district directors who administer federal meat inspection operations at the local level are meeting in Washington to develop the techniques and procedures to begin immediate implementation of the new law and uniform guidelines for plants newly covered," Secretary Orville Freeman said.

"Our main aim is to get compliance immediately in plants brought under federal inspection to make sure that meat products prepared in these plants are sanitary and wholesome," he said.

The principal persons immediately affected are those who prepare carcasses of cattle, sheep, swine, goats, or horses into wholesale cuts or smaller pieces for distribution in interstate or foreign commerce (known in the meat industry as boners and cutters).

Retail Outlets

Those who will be affected 60 days after enactment of the new law are principally:

— Retail butchers and retail dealers currently holding certificates of exemption from Federal meat inspection.

Other steps being taken today by the USDA to implement the act are:

— Authorizing district directors to receive applications for federal inspection and grant federal inspection, as a way to speed coverage of the law to plants brought under federal inspection the first time.

— Allowing district directors to hire the inspectors needed for new plants that are coming under federal inspection.

— Notifying operators of plants affected immediately by the new law. The plants are being instructed on how they are affected by the law, and given information on how to apply for and obtain federal inspection.

— Developing the secretary's advisory committee and the program and planning committees composed of state and federal officials, as required by the new law. The committees are established by the Wholesome Meat Act to help achieve full cooperation among state and federal officials in making sure all meat is wholesome, whether it is sold only within a state or across state lines.

Further details will be released soon. The USDA will survey each newly covered plant. "This review will initially focus on those plant facilities and equipment that are absolutely essential to sanitary operations," he said.

Any critical sanitary deficiencies found by the review team will have to be corrected before the plant can operate under federal inspection.

However, the usual requirement that drawings of the plant be submitted to USDA for review will be deferred. "This will permit the industry to change promptly from uninspected to inspected status," Freeman said.

USDA also announced interim labeling procedures to be used by boning and cutting operations to avoid undue disruption of business, local federal meat inspection representatives can give temporary approval to labeling materials for use by such persons.

At the end of 60 days after the effective date of the new law, the plant could only use labeling materials approved by Washington representatives of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, which administers the federal meat inspection program.

Holders of retail exemption certificates will have 60 days within which to qualify for federal inspection and to obtain approval of labeling materials by Washington representatives of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. However, they will have three years to comply fully with the Department's plant construction requirements.

As in all federally inspected operations, the government will pay for the cost of the continuous inspection service for an 8-hour day. The plant will reimburse the federal government for any overtime, holiday, or weekend work performed by the inspector.

Amherst Farm Couple Guests of UW Saddle, Sirloin Club Dinner

AMHERST — Mr. and Mrs. Gale Gordon were in Madison last week as special guests at a banquet sponsored by the Saddle and Sirloin club. The event was held in recognition of dairy cattle, livestock and meat judging teams with team members of 10 to 20 years ago as honored guests.

Gordon, a 1959 University of Wisconsin graduate in dairy husbandry, was a winner in judging international shows in Chicago, Fort Worth and Kansas City. Receiving the highest ratings in judging, his record still remains unbroken.

A son of the late LeRoy Gordon and Mrs. Gordon, he is a purebred Guernsey dairy farmer in Nelsonville, as was his father, who died last month. He graduated from Amherst High School in 1955.

U.S. Right to Limit Travel Rejected by Appeals Court

By STEPHEN M. AUG Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has been stripped of its power—at least temporarily—to restrict travel abroad by U.S. citizens.

A three-judge federal appeals court ruling earlier this week limited the government to restricting the travel of the citizen's passport, but not of the citizen.

The ruling came in a single decision on two cases involving:—Saugton Lynd, a Yale history teacher who visited Hanoi in 1966.

—Jane Wittman, a New York school teacher who traveled to Cuba in 1964.

Miss Wittman's passport was revoked because she refused to give the State Department any assurance she would not use it to travel to Cuba.

Sole Purpose

In her case, the court said the department could revoke her passport because her sole purpose was to visit Cuba—a nation to which travel by U.S. citizens is restricted.

Lynd's case was more complicated. His passport was revoked after he promised not to use it for travel to North Vietnam. But he refused to promise the State Department that he would not travel to a restricted country—albeit without his passport.

In essence, said the court, while the State Department may take steps to prevent unauthorized use of a passport because it is an official government document, it does not have the power to prevent an individual from entering a restricted nation if he does not use his passport to get there.

Control Passport

The court put it this way: "In short, we think the Secretary (of State) has authority to control the lawful travel of the passport, even though Congress has not given authority to control the travel of the person."

Thus the State Department may, for example, require a person going to North Vietnam to deposit his passport for safe-keeping with a U.S. embassy in a country along his route. He could pick it up again after he finishes his North Vietnam visit.

The court decision may well force the State Department to return Stokely Carmichael's passport to him if he gives assurance he will not use it to visit a restricted nation. His passport was revoked on his return to this country because he visited, among other places, Cuba and North Vietnam.

5 Restricted Nations

The State Department currently lists five nations to which U.S. citizens may not travel: China, Cuba, North Korea, North Vietnam, Syria. The Supreme Court has upheld the department's power to issue such a list.

But in a 1958 decision the highest court upheld the right to travel as one protected by the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution which says a citizen may not "be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law." The liberty includes travel, said the court.

The State Department has 90 days in which to appeal the three-judge court decision to the Supreme Court. No decision on an appeal reportedly has been made.

Legislation Pending

The department's problems in actually restricting the right to travel might be solved by passage of legislation pending in Congress which would make it a crime to travel to a restricted country—with or without a passport.

Although some government lawyers believe such a law would be constitutional, they concede the crime might be difficult to prove.

After all, they note, how could you subpoena a North Vietnamese immigration official to testify in a U.S. court that an individual did, indeed, visit North Vietnam?

PTA Decides To Pay Bonus To Teachers

MINERAL SPRINGS, N.C. (AP) — The Mineral Springs Parent-Teacher Association will play Santa and pay $2,050 in salary supplements for the town's 12 elementary school teachers and principal next year.

The 150-member PTA volunteered to foot the bill after Union County voters rejected a county-wide referendum proposing a tax increase to finance teacher salary supplements.

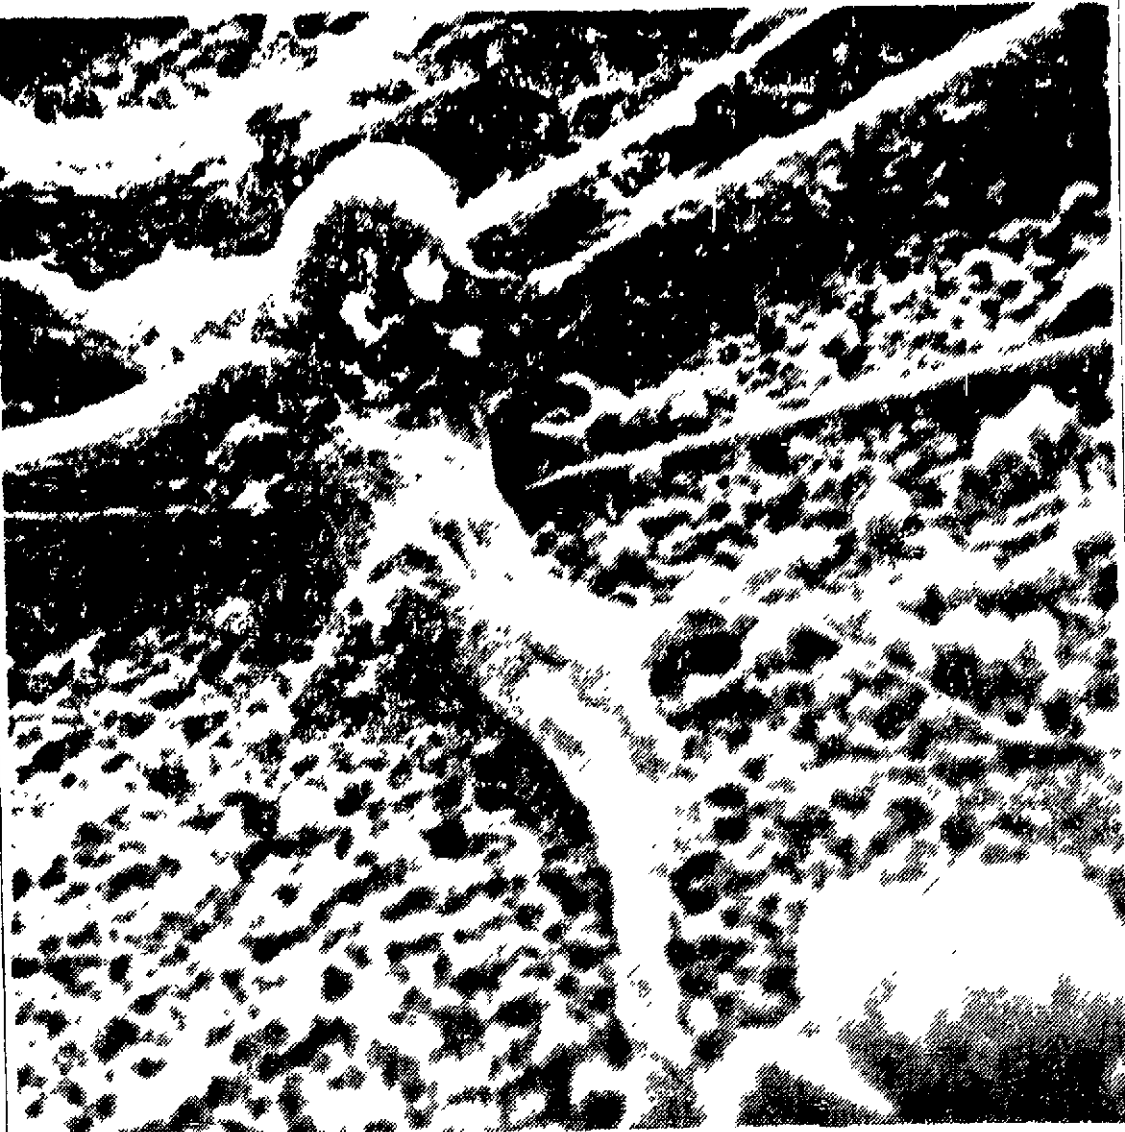

"It's the first time I've seen this happen...where the parents raise the money themselves," said Harold Funderburk, an assistant county school superintendent. "I hope other PTAs catch on."

Willie Starnes president of the Mineral Springs PTA said the association will provide annual supplements of $150 for the 12 teachers and $250 for the principal.

PTA members also are remembering the 12 teachers this Christmas with $50 checks.

'Merry Christmas,' Wished by Gunman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mir-eilli Costa, 24, told police Thursday of a gunman who approached her teller's compartment at American Security and Trust Co. and politely asked her to hand over all the hundreds fifties and tens. Before fleeing with $2,500, the robber smiled and said softly: "Merry Christmas."

Hoffa Holiday Not Special

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Christmas inside the walls of Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary will be much the same for all 1,650 inmates—including No. 33298—James R. Hoffa.

There will be a super turkey dinner with all the fancy trimmings, just one gift package, and all the holiday greetings relatives and friends cared to mail.

There will be midnight and daylight church services, caroling and finally a special movie.

Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, is spending his first Christmas in prison. He's now in the 10th month of an eight-year jury tampering sentence.

Hoffa reportedly received thousands of Christmas greetings from all over the country—and all were given to him if they contained only the printed holiday message and a signature. Those that carried words of personal encouragement were withheld.

A prison spokesman said the Christmas policy is to give inmates any number of cards. Normally, mail can be received by a prisoner only from a limited list of persons which he specifies.

As for gifts, each inmate is allowed just one package, weighing no more than four pounds, and containing candy or nuts or books, items usually not available at the prison commissary.

All Alike

Warden Jacob J. Parker as usual declines to discuss any prisoner because "we don't single out any man."

"The only special effort we make," he adds, "is to treat every one exactly the same. We recognize no big shots."

But insiders who've watched Hoffa eating, working and playing—he likes the weight and muscle-building equipment in the gym and an occasional game of handball—say he doesn't try to throw his weight around. He's jovial, jokes a lot, has shown no outburst of temper.

Hoffa's visitors—his wife, his son and daughter, and his lawyers—have told friends that Hoffa has adjusted well to prison life. They say that he looks good, eats well and continues to be cheerful.

Makes Friends

"He's reconciled to the fact that his efforts for freedom won't be immediate," one insider reports. "He makes friends easily, and the other inmates seek him out for a word or two. He frequently goes into the chapel to chat with prison pals."

Hoffa continues to spend his 40 working hours every week in the clothing room—sorting, stacking and issuing clothing to fellow inmates. Occasionally he shifts over to taking in dirty laundry or helping sew up ripped mattress covers.

At night, Hoffa still lives alone—he has asked for this privilege—in a 9-by-10-foot cell with a window overlooking a grass court. He has a cot covered with a khaki blanket, a locker for his clothes and personal articles, and a sink and commode.

One rib gave way and in a domino effect, 20 sets of ribs collapsed, he said.

Department, said a hydraulically operated digging machine was being used Thursday to change the grade in the tunnel and that it collapsed because workmen apparently didn't replace all the steel ribs and plates used for support.

Work Halted

A spokesman for the contractors said the collapsed section will be partially shored up today and then work will stop until after the first of the year.

Oshkosh Man Dies As Car Hits Train

OSHKOSH — A 22-year-old Oshkosh man was killed instantly at about 8 p.m. Thursday when the car he was driving struck a northbound Soo Line train at a crossing on County Trunk Z, 6 miles south of here.

The death of Richard J. Glasshof, 305A E. Irving Ave., was due to severe head injuries, Coroner Art C. Miller ruled.

County police said it was snowing and the road was icy at the time of the accident. The train engineer was not aware that Glasshof's vehicle had struck one of the train cars. Police also said there were railroad signs at the crossing but no signals.

Glasshof's death brought the Winnebago County traffic death toll to 29 for the year, the same as last year at this time.

Dies of Injuries

Mrs. Richard G. Marshall, 49, of Oshkosh died Thursday of injuries suffered Sunday when a car overturned after leaving State 23 near Fond du Lac. Her husband, 50, died in the crash.

A car-truck collision in Germantown, Washington County, Thursday took the life of Helmut T. Haendel, 54, of Milwaukee.

Ronnie Potts, 6, of Milwaukee was killed Thursday when he was struck by a truck near his home.

Harold A. Peterson, 67, of Hager City, was killed Thursday on Pierce County Trunk E about 14 miles south of Ellsworth. Officers said Peterson's livestock truck stalled and a motorist drove his car close to the truck to help. They said that while Peterson was between the two vehicles his truck was hit by another car and he was crushed.

Mrs. Maybelle E. Jones, 68, of Racine died Thursday when her car skidded on wet Highway 20 near Whitewater and then collided with a truck.

Lloyd A. Gill, 51, of Oconomowoc died Thursday of injuries received Oct. 9 in a three-car collision on U. S. 16 about four miles east of Oconomowoc.

Shoplifted 'Doll' Belongs to Mama

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — "Would you like to pay for that item?" The department store detective asked Mrs. Richard Hunt of Ogden as she was Christmas shopping.

"I did pay for it," she insisted, holding up a paper bag for him to inspect.

"I mean the doll under your arm," the detective replied.

The doll was 5-month-old Monica Hunt, snuggled under her mother's arm in a pink jumper suit, sound asleep.

W. J. Horvath Heads State Soils Board

Shawano Native
Succeeds Noted
I. O. Hembre

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A Shawano native has returned to Wisconsin to take over the duties of executive secretary of the state Soil Conservation Service, newly renamed the State Soil Conservation Board.

He is William J. Horvath, who succeeds I. O. Hembre, one of the best-known figures in Wisconsin agriculture, who has retired.

Horvath was educated at Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point and the University of Michigan and has acted in administrative capacities with soil conservation programs in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Formerly an independent state agency, the Soil Conservation Board is now a division of the State Department of Natural Resources, as a result of the legislature's enactment of the Kellett state government reorganization bill.

All counties within the state are identified as separate administrative districts for the soil conservation program operated in collaboration with the national government, and the annual report of the agency notes that the number of prospective individual farmer and land-owner cooperators has reached 47,000.

Applications have piled up to make a potential list of an additional 75,000 cooperators, the document noted.

In recent years most of the funds available have been used for the purchase of machinery and equipment for soil protection work. In the new year the emphasis will be shifted to providing technical counsel and assistance to individual cooperators.

Sire Report

Two New Oat Varieties Available for 1968

This was a good small grain year. The quality was quite good except for some lower bushel weights on the late maturing varieties especially where severe lodging occurred.

Oat yields are estimated at 62 bushels per acre, barley 57 bushels and winter wheat 40 bushels.

Two new oat varieties are being added to the "most promising" list for Wisconsin in 1968. Wisconsin certified seeds of these two varieties will be available for planting. Another variety called Orbit from New York will also be added, but only limited amounts of seed are available. It would be good to study the yield data and description of each of these new varieties to see whether or not they will be useful on your farm.

Some of the older varieties are being dropped from the "most promising" list. This year they are: Sauk, Portage and Goodfield. As these are being replaced by other varieties they are superior in yield, straw strength and-or disease resistance.

These changes will be made in the state bulletin which we expect to have available about February 1. If you would like a copy send a card to County Agricultural Agent, University Extension Office, Room 102, Court house, Appleton.

The October 1967 Wisconsin U.S.D.A. Sire Report is now available from your D.H.I.A. fieldman or County Extension Office. This new report contains information on many more bulls than any of the previous reports plus all AI sires with semen available that have 10 or more tested daughters.

Recently we received order blanks for shrubs for wildlife planting from J. L. Rieckhoff, district manager, Wisconsin Conservation Department at Oshkosh. Shrubs available this year are mixed crab, silky dogwood, wild grape, ninebark, multiflora rose, and Siberian peabush.

They can be provided free to either groups who would use them for officially sponsored and supervised projects in wildlife and forestry. Also to lessors on public hunting and fishing grounds, to private owners with-in experimental wildlife on watershed management areas, and to groups for supervised planting on planting on public lands and to public agencies.

To other individuals who do not qualify in any of the above mentioned groups, there will be a charge of $20 per thousand for each species ordered except for Multiflora Rose which is $10 per thousand.

They were humble men...

Shepherds from the plains of Bethlehem came first to praise the Centuries later, in the hands of humble men, another cause grew and flourished. The cooperative idea, born among England's

Trapped 19 Hours in California

17 Freed From Mountain Cave-in

GORMAN Calif. (AP) — Seventeen men, trapped for 19 hours behind a cave-in inside a snowcapped mountain, crawled through a narrow passageway to safety today.

A cheer went up as the men emerged from the entrance to a 1½-mile-long State Water Project tunnel in the Tehachapi mountains, which separate Northern and Southern California.

Fellow workers had tried to reach the men from three directions, but feared the men might be trapped as long as four or five days. However, one team—digging head-on through 80 feet of dirt, rock and steel blocking the tunnel—made rapid progress after finding the collapsed steel roof had formed a partial passageway.

"No one felt we would never get out," said one of the trapped men, H. G. Harrison, a construction inspector for the State Department of Water Resources. "But we thought it would take a week to get us out."

"How they got to us as fast as they did I'll never know."

The trapped men laughed, told jokes and ate and drank from supplies lowered through two pipes—four-and-eight-inches in diameter—that were undamaged by the cave-in. Their air supply was never in danger and they were warmer—by at least 40 degrees—than rescuers and onlookers standing above ground in 14-degree temperature.

"I wasn't scared, not a bit," declared Roy Willis. "The only reason one of the rescuers worked so hard is I owe him 30 bucks."

"You would expect that many men to have some hysteria,"

added Harrison, "but there was none."

"I've made enough money in overtime to take a few days off," sighed Charles Shuler.

"You've got to give credit to the guys up top," he added. "They were digging through a hole without timbers. That's damn dangerous."

Rescuers dug through the debris into the chamber, shook hands with the trapped men, and then backtracked to shore up the escape tunnel and cut protruding steel with welding torches.

Harrison, 6-foot-2, and 200 pounds, said the opening was "just barely large enough to squeeze through."

News Sources Blacked Out Until Departure

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Johnson flew to Thailand today after his visit to Australia, according to advices reaching The Associated Press.

The President was spending Friday night at Khorat Air Base about 150 miles northeast of Bangkok, a reliable source said. The White House correspondents accompanying Johnson were inaccessible—probably until the President's scheduled departure Saturday.

Khorat is one of the bases the United States, in cooperation with Thailand, has developed for the defense of that nation and as staging areas for the American bombing of North Vietnam. The United States has 35,000 or so troops in Thailand, and Thailand has sent a contingent to South Vietnam.

Reports persisted that the President on his way home might stop in Rome to talk with Pope Paul VI, but there was no confirmation. Before leaving Australia, he told accompanying correspondents that he hoped to get them home by Christmas Eve, Sunday night.

No official confirmation of the President's visit to Thailand seems likely until he leaves the country. The scheduled take-off time was reported to be 9 a.m. Saturday—8 p.m. CST today.

This was the pattern followed last year when Johnson visited U.S. troops in Vietnam. The news came out after Johnson had left Cam Ranh Bay.

President Johnson attended the memorial service for Prime Minister Harold E. Holt in Melbourne, Australia, and then flew on to Darwin, in northern Australia. He arrived there about 5:35 p.m. Darwin time, equivalent to 2:05 a.m. CST.

Then the correspondents accompanying him were put under wraps. No further word came from them as the day wore on.

Across Indonesia

The President's plane apparently headed across the Indonesian archipelago to Thailand.

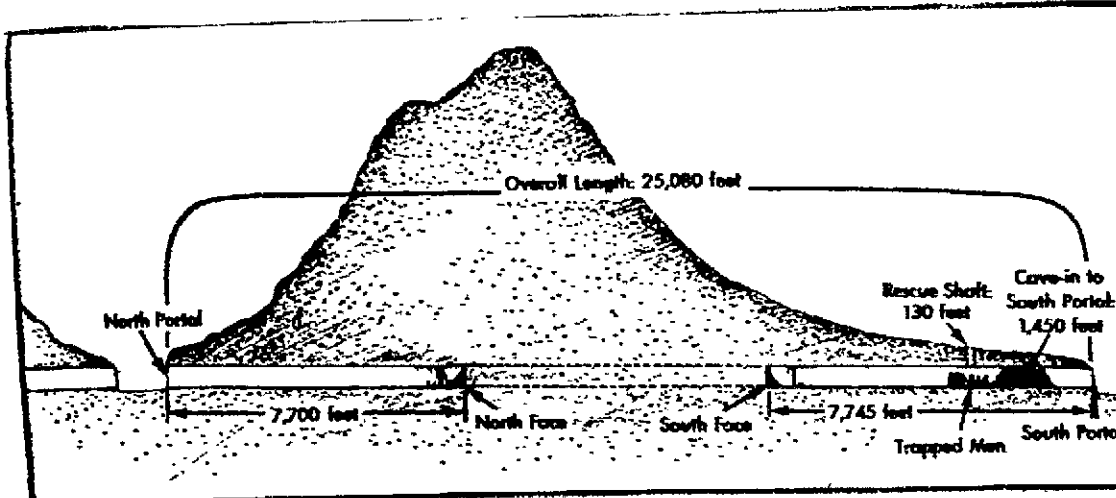

Johnson also visited Thailand on his October 1966 trip to the Manila conference, but the trip at that time was outlined fully in advance.

During his 36 hours in Australia, Johnson talked with the nation's interim prime minister, John McEwen, and leaders of South Vietnam, South Korea, New Zealand, Thailand and the Philippines—America's allies in the Vietnam war—as well as with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore.

His meeting with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu ended with a declaration that the two men agreed on ways to promote peace in Vietnam.

One of the 17 Men Trapped by a tunnel cave-in near Gorman, Calif., Wolf Braitsch, 32, is greeted by his wife, Kathy, as he emerges after 19 hours' imprisonment. The drawing below shows how the construction workers were trapped when 80 feet of the roof of the California State Water Project tunnel collapsed 1,450 feet from the South Portal entrance at right. Rescue efforts included drilling a 36-inch shaft into the tunnel from above. (AP Wirephotos)

Pope Again Offers To Mediate on War

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI called on the United States today to suspend the bombing of North Vietnam and offered anew to mediate the war. He said he was grieved and astonished that previous offers of mediation and honest attempts for peace had been rejected.

The pontiff's new appeal for an end of the bombing came on the eve of a possible visit to the Vatican by President Johnson on his way home from Australia. There have been reports here and in Washington that Johnson wants to see the Pope to explain the U.S. position on Vietnam. But there has been no confirmation that a stopover here was being arranged.

Hanoi in the past has rejected the Pope's offers to serve as a mediator in Vietnam.

The Roman Catholic leader has praised U.S. peace proposals that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have steadily turned down.

"Many voices have requested us to exhort one of the participants to suspend bombing," the Pope said.

"Do It Again"

"We have done it before and we do it again," he added.

The appeal was contained in a 28-page address delivered to the College of Cardinals. They had assembled at the Vatican to extend Christmas greetings to the Pope.

Continuing his reference to Vietnam, the Pope said:

"May violence cease in all its forms."

"We are certain that the final goal to pursue is not an oppressive victory, but security, peace and liberty for all."

"Frank and loyal negotiations are the only constructive road for true peace."

The Pope's appeal represented a new effort to establish a dialogue between the belligerents in Vietnam and to influence public opinion in favor of negotiations to end the fighting.

"We are grieved and astonished to observe how every disinterested offer of mediation has been made in vain and how each peaceful and honest attempt has been rejected," the 70-year-old pontiff said.

The Pope described himself as "foreign to any interested party and only concerned with the human values involved."

"We have dared to offer our neutral collaboration (and) are ready to cooperate in the most efficient way to allow establishment of true peace."

He said he "would like to think that all those who can exert decisive influence in this direction would give a sign of serious desire for peace."

There was no report of any more SAMs being fired when the B52s returned today.

In other raids today, the big bombers pounded two suspected infiltration routes within a few miles of the Cambodian border.

One strike was 68 miles northwest of Saigon where supplies filter into War Zone C. The second was 89 miles north of Saigon near the Bu Dop Special Forces camp which the Communists assaulted last month.

The new Marine assault, also aimed at taking Communist pressure off the northern frontier area, was centered about five miles below the demilitarized zone along the coast of Quang Tri Province.

A battalion of Marines, about 1,000 men, landed Thursday morning from helicopters and from ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet. U.S. headquarters said the only significant action so far occurred shortly before dark Thursday when one Marine company exchanged small arms and machinegun fire with an enemy force of unknown size entrenched in a complex of bunkers. Four Marines were killed and nine were wounded. Communist casualties were not known.

U.S. cruisers and destroyers also turned their big guns on Communist positions along the northern frontier, and fighter-bombers also raked enemy strongpoints.

B52 Bombers Return to DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers returned to blast North Vietnamese targets in the demilitarized zone again today despite the threats of more missiles like the three the Reds fired at them in the same area Thursday.

The huge high-altitude bombers pounded troop concentrations and artillery positions in the northern half of the DMZ, seven miles north-northwest of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien. Earlier in the day they blasted suspected Communist infiltration routes along the Cambodian border.

New Assault

At the same time the U.S. Command disclosed a new amphibious and helicopter assault by Marines along the northern sector where 35,000 Communist troops are believed concentrated.

U.S. headquarters said the only significant action so far occurred shortly before dark Thursday when one Marine company exchanged small arms and machinegun fire with an enemy force of unknown size entrenched in a complex of bunkers. Four Marines were killed and nine were wounded. Communist casualties were not known.

U.S. cruisers and destroyers also turned their big guns on Communist positions along the northern frontier, and fighter-bombers also raked enemy strongpoints.

Cold-if Not White- Christmas Is Likely

Christmas in the Fox Valley is going to be a little more Christmasy than had been expected Thursday.

After the Valley basked in record high temperatures, the mercury plunged to an official 5 degrees above zero in Appleton early this morning, about the same time that winter officially began at 7:17 a.m. The drop was +4 degrees from Thursday's official high of 49.

The overnight low in Wisconsin was minus-6 in Superior. The forecast provides for more of the same, although temperatures won't be quite so low until Christmas Day. Frequent periods of light snow and flurries are expected throughout the weekend.

Snow totaling an official 4 inch dusted Valley highways with a thin white layer, sufficient to make driving perilous today. Outside of the Valley area, however, highways in the state were in good winter driving condition late this morning.

The state's high Thursday was 57 at Milwaukee, the city's highest reading on record for the date. Green Bay's 52 degrees was that city's highest also.

Rudy Vallee Has Eye On LA Mayor's Seat

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singing star Rudy Vallee says he may try the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate. He is vacationing in Acapulco, Mexico.

Vallee, 66, said he considered taking a fling in politics in 1933 and 1934 when he was naval aide to the governor of Maine, and that he toyed with the idea of running for Los Angeles mayor in 1959 and 1960 but dropped it until now.

Mobile Christmas Display 'Disneyland' in New London

NEW LONDON — "A traffic stopper!"

That's the unique, mobile, miniature "Disneyland" outdoor Christmas display of Mr. and Mrs. Alvia Ora, 112 W. Millard St.

Lines of cars drive past the Ora home each Christmas season for a glimpse of the animated display which fills their front yard. Christmas carols are heard from a speaker on the couple's front porch.

Most of the cars stop to give their young, wide-eyed passengers time to watch the unusual decorations. Often the children and parents climb from their cars to get a closer look.

A revolving merry-go-round, which took about one year to build, has Rudolph leading Santa's reindeer. The deer move up and down — much the same as horses in a conventional merry-go-round — as it revolves. The entire display only stands about four feet high.

Ferris Wheel Elves
Dolls dressed as brightly colored elves ride in a ferris wheel.

A large silver star with blue lights rotates on one side of the walk, while the baby Jesus is rocked in a crib on the other side.

Neighbors have dubbed the exhibit "Ora's Disneyland", and take particular joy in watching it in operation each year.

The entire display was constructed of scraps of wood, old motors — borrowed patterns, and a good deal of hard work over a three year period.

Ora started building the merry-go-round for display the next year. The ferris wheel, made of two old wooden wagon wheels and wood scraps came next.

A revolving Christmas tree, the cradle, and star came later.

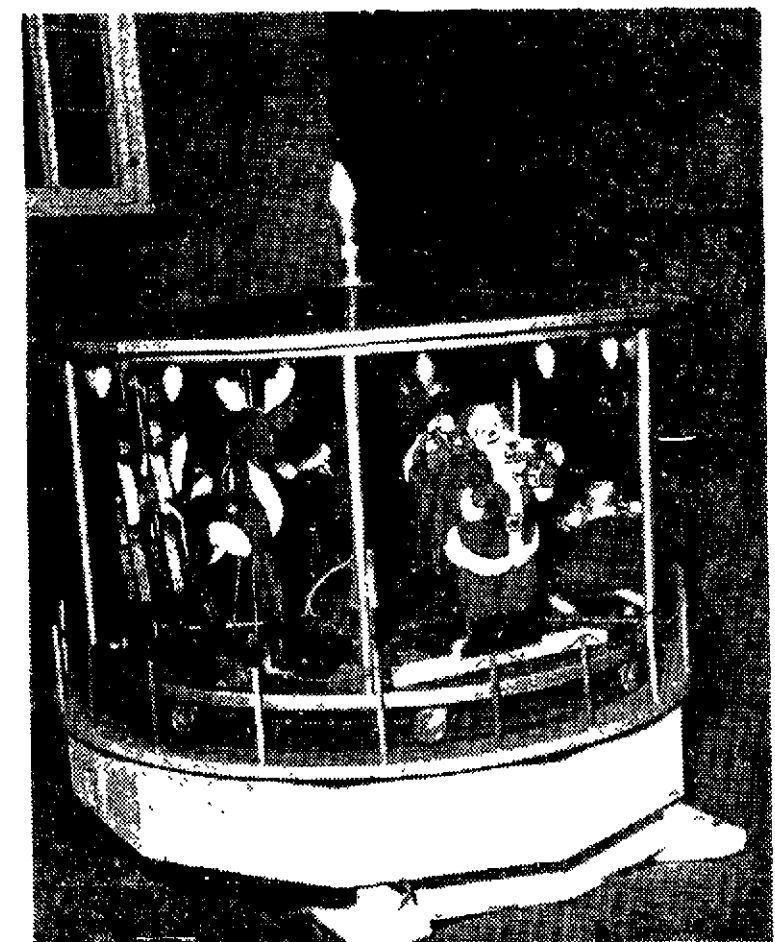

Watch Children
Mr. and Mrs. Ora said they like to watch the little children who come to view the display. A moving sleigh with reindeer and waving Santa Claus and elves hitching a ride on a ferris wheel seem much more real than static displays.

The display takes Ora and a neighbor about a half day to put up. Ora, who formerly worked at Edison Wood Products, spends much of the summer taking each display apart, checking it over and reassembling it for the next season.

Mrs. Ora said that their cars stand outside — just so the displays can be stored out of the weather. Ora fashioned the displays, while his wife designed and painted them. She works for Hortonville Manufacturing Company, a firm which manufactures wood toys.

A heavy rain which fell early Wednesday night, a most brought tears to the Ora's eyes. They said rain was most harmful to the decorations because of the electric motors required to operate them.

Animated Christmas Displays at the Ora home attract hundreds of viewers each year. A ferris wheel with seated elves and a carousel with Santa and prancing reindeer, are two of the mobile exhibits which enthrall children and adults alike each holiday season. The displays were made by Ora and painted and decorated by his wife.

County Might Finance Airport Project Landing System Decision Seen

A special meeting of Outagamie County Board's Executive Committee will be called either for Tuesday or Wednesday to determine whether the county should go ahead and install an instrument landing system (ILS) at the airport at county expense.

The decision to call a special meeting was made Thursday at a meeting of the county's airport committee with A. W. Ponath, county corporation counsel; Del Drumm, Appleton Chamber of Commerce executive secretary; Sylvester Esler, county board chairman, and Harry Guest, head of Kimberly-Clark Corporation's aviation division.

Representatives from the state aeronautics commission and from Ralph Burke associates, the county's consulting engineer on the airport, also will be asked to attend.

The move was precipitated by information given county officials Wednesday by Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) officials in Washington, D. C., that federal funds for an ILS would not be available until 1972 at the earliest.

Maintenance And Operation
County officials were told, however, the FAA would assume responsibility for maintenance and operation of the system if it was installed by the county.

Estimated cost of installing the system with the necessary lighting was about $120,000.

"We have gone this far and we shouldn't stop now," Supv. Paul Kostka, Little Chute, chairman of the airport committee, said.

Ponath was to attempt to contact Fritz Wolf, director of the state aeronautics division of the Department of Transportation, to find out if state aid which the county has applied for on a runway project could be switched to the ILS project. The county was seeking aid of $35,000 in 1968 for an 800-foot extension of the northwest-southeast runway. However, that work has been rescheduled for 1970.

Esler said he did not think the county would have to appropriate any additional money for the ILS installation. The county has received about $80,000 from the City of Appleton for sale of land at the old airport site and additional funds are expected from that source early next year. This money goes into an airport trust fund and Esler said they would seek county board approval for use of that money for the ILS.

All-Weather Airport
Guest told the committee that an ILS was necessary for Kimberly-Clark to operate its airplanes out of the field. He said the jets had to have equipment to enable them to make direct landings approaches over the runway because they lacked maneuverability while landing.

He added the system would also be of great help to Air Wisconsin in permitting it to operate in poorer weather conditions.

"An ILS will make you an all-weather airport," Guest said. He also indicated it would also eliminate the need for the installation of a terminal voice omni range system.

Esler also met Thursday with the public properties and insurance, health, education and institutions and agriculture committees to explain the proposal, and apparently received the support of a majority of those committee members.

More License Data Is Needed
Couples getting married after Jan. 1 will be required to provide more information at the time of their license application than they now do, according to Outagamie County Clerk Mollie Pfeffer.

New information which will be required at the time of application includes the social security number of both bride and groom, place of birth of both parents, and maiden name of the mothers.

In addition, the birth certificates of the couple to be married and record of their blood tests must also be submitted at the time of application for the license.

Graduates to Advise New London Students On College Routine

NEW LONDON — Members of the class of 1967 who are continuing their education will return to the high school commons at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday for a "Back to School Day" to offer advice and information to interested upperclassmen.

The returning graduates will offer a student view of the University of Wisconsin, most of the Wisconsin state universities, some private colleges and universities and vocational, technical and nursing schools.

Priority List Urged for Outagamie Projects

A detailed look at where Outagamie County will be going in the next three to five years will be sought at the January meeting of the county board, with the aim of developing a priority list of proposed capital improvements.

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, chairman of the board's health, education and institutions committee, made the proposal Thursday and was supported by County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler.

DeLaHunt asked that either an executive session of the entire board or a committee-of-the-whole session be held where all supervisors could bring out what they felt would be the major needs of the county for the future.

Proposals Face Board
The Kaukauna supervisor said there already were a number of proposals involving large sums of money facing the board and that priorities should be set up along with determining what effect the spending will have on county taxes in the future.

Some of the major items facing the county, cited by DeLaHunt, include airport improvements, University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center proposals, possible recommendations from the blue ribbon citizens committee on the county institutions, courthouse remodeling and highway programs.

DeLaHunt suggested that projections be made on the county's tax base in an attempt to determine how much money will be available and how drastically bonding will affect the tax rate.

Could Make Study
He said that a committee-of-the-whole meeting would permit all supervisors to bring out any ideas they had on the county's needs for the future. County officials could then make a study from the proposals and set up a priority list, DeLaHunt said he has not received any word on the exact date it will be submitted.

Whether the proposal will be acted on in January will depend considerably on whether the blue ribbon committee's report is completed and in the hand of all supervisors prior to the January session of the board.

The report was scheduled for completion by Jan. 1 but Esler said he has not received any word on the exact date it will be submitted.

The blue ribbon group has been studying the county's institutional facilities and is expected to make recommendations regarding possible consolidation of some services and possible building needs.

Eye Aid for UW Center

County board approval will be sought in January to enable the center adequate for six to ten years, and the third is to build a health, education and institutions committee to apply for federal aid either to construct a new University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center or to build an addition to the present center.

The committee instructed that if Outagamie County wanted to go ahead with building a new center, Winnebago County to obtain information on what would pull out of the venture.

One joint meeting has already been held between the two counties on the possibility of selling the present center and the Outagamie County going alone on a new facility. There has been no official reaction from Winnebago County.

Center Jointly Operated
The center is operated jointly by Outagamie and Winnebago Counties. Indications have been that if Outagamie County wanted to go ahead with building a new center, Winnebago County to obtain information on what would pull out of the venture.

One joint meeting has already been held between the two counties on the possibility of selling the present center and the Outagamie County going alone on a new facility. There has been no official reaction from Winnebago County.

University Center system of officials also have indicated that either a new center should be built or the present one expanded.

Committee member Herbert Helble, Appleton, indicated he was in favor of making a federal aid application but preferred going slowly on a decision. "I don't know enough yet to be able to support building a new center," he said.

Helble Questions Theory
He also questioned the theory of having local communities pay for construction of the university centers. He said this amounted to the county paying for two higher education systems.

DeLaHunt replied that pressure has been put on the Legislature to change the method of financing university centers but that state financing would mean the end of local control.

Helble also questioned the possibility of finding a buyer for the present center building if the decision was made to construct a new center. "Who would buy the center? The building is not good for anything except its present use," he said.

DeLaHunt urged that a "yes or no" decision be made and that it should not be left dangling with a "maybe."

Reach Federal Age Limit

2 Draft Board Members Retire

Outagamie County Selective Service Board No. 53 will lose two veteran members because of a federal law effective Jan. 1.

Schmalz has lived in Outagamie County most of his life. He served overseas with the military during World War I.

This month's board meeting was the last for Arthur W. Schmalz, 77, 51 Fox Point Drive, who this week received a 25-year service certificate from fellow board members.

George A. Butth, 1325 S. Outagamie St., has one more board meeting before his mandatory retirement becomes effective.

Butth has been on the local board nearly 25 years. The two vacancies on the five-man board will be filled by appointments by federal authorities.

Schmalz was the "senior" member of the local board after the recent retirement of Frank Appleton. Kaukauna native, Schmalz has lived in Outagamie County most of his life. He served overseas with the military during World War I.

Schmalz retired in 1961 as a vice president for Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna.

He is a director and vice president of the Bank of Kaukauna and formerly was affiliated with the Kaukauna Savings and Loan Association.

He is a past president of the Rotary Club and has life memberships in the 40 and 8, Elks Lodge, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and American Legion. He and his wife, Susan, have one child.

Butth, a Wausau native, came to Appleton with his wife, Emmy, in 1921 and they have lived here since. He is president and general manager of the Butth Oil Co., which he helped organize in 1931.

Butth, 74, was in the Army quartermaster corps during World War I.

He is a Shriner, a member of the Masonic Order, Rotary, American Legion, and Appleton Chamber of Commerce. He also has served as director of Wisconsin Gas Service, Inc., the Appleton State Bank and Valley Bank Corporation and has been active in hospital drives. Butth also has held high offices in the Zion Lutheran Church, Appleton.

George A. Butth, left, and Arthur M. Schmalz, center, retiring members of Outagamie County Selective Service Board No. 53, were honored at a party given by fellow board members this week. H. P. Dixon, another board member presents a 25-year service certificate to Schmalz. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Ponath was to attempt to contact Fritz Wolf, director of the state aeronautics division of the Department of Transportation, to find out if state aid which the county has applied for on a runway project could be switched to the ILS project. The county was seeking aid of $35,000 in 1968 for an 800-foot extension of the northwest-southeast runway. However, that work has been rescheduled for 1970.

Esler said he did not think the county would have to appropriate any additional money for the ILS installation. The county has received about $80,000 from the City of Appleton for sale of land at the old airport site and additional funds are expected from that source early next year. This money goes into an airport trust fund and Esler said they would seek county board approval for use of that money for the ILS.

All-Weather Airport
Guest told the committee that an ILS was necessary for Kimberly-Clark to operate its airplanes out of the field. He said the jets had to have equipment to enable them to make direct landings approaches over the runway because they lacked maneuverability while landing. He added the system would also be of great help to Air Wisconsin in permitting it to operate in poorer weather conditions.

"An ILS will make you an all-weather airport," Guest said. He also indicated it would also eliminate the need for the installation of a terminal voice omni range system.

Esler also met Thursday with the public properties and insurance, health, education and institutions and agriculture committees to explain the proposal and apparently received the support of a majority of those committee members.

Graduates to Advise New London Students On College Routine

NEW LONDON — Members of the class of 1967 who are continuing their education will return to the high school commons at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday for a "Back to School Day" to offer advice and information to interested upperclassmen.

The returning graduates will offer a student view of the University of Wisconsin, most of the Wisconsin state universities, some private colleges and universities and vocational, technical and nursing schools.

More License Data Is Needed
Couples getting married after Jan. 1 will be required to provide more information at the time of their license application than they now do, according to Outagamie County Clerk Mollie Pfeiffer.

New information which will be required at the time of application includes the social security number of both bride and groom, place of birth of both parents, and maiden name of the mothers.

In addition, the birth certificates of the couple to be married and record of their blood tests must also be submitted at the time of application for the license.

Priority List Urged for Outagamie Projects

A detailed look at where Outagamie County will be going in the next three to five years will be sought at the January meeting of the county board, with the aim of developing a priority list of proposed capital improvements.

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, chairman of the board's health, education and institutions committee, made the proposal Thursday and was supported by County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler.

DeLaHunt asked that either an executive session of the entire board or a committee-of-the-whole session be held where all supervisors could bring out what they felt would be the major needs of the county for the future.

Proposals Face Board
The Kaukauna supervisor said there already were a number of proposals involving large sums of money facing the board and that priorities should be set up along with determining what effect the spending will have on county taxes in the future.

Some of the major items facing the county, cited by DeLaHunt, include airport improvements, University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center proposals, possible recommendations from the blue ribbon citizens committee on the county institutions, courthouse remodeling and highway programs.

DeLaHunt suggested that projections be made on the county's tax base in an attempt to determine how much money will be available and how drastically bonding will affect the tax rate.

Could Make Study
He said that a committee-of-the-whole meeting would permit all supervisors to bring out any ideas they had on the county's needs for the future. County officials could then make a study from the proposals and completion by Jan. 1 but Esler said he has not received any word on the exact date it will be submitted.

The blue ribbon group has been studying the county's institutional facilities and is expected to make recommendations regarding possible consolidation of some services and possible building needs.

The report was scheduled for

Eye Aid for UW Center

County board approval will be sought in January to enable the health, education and institutions committee to apply for federal aid either to construct a new University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center or to build an addition to the present center.

The committee instructed County Executive Secretary Alvin Wochler Thursday afternoon to obtain information on what federal aid programs are available and the method of applying for the aid.

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, chairman of the county's health, education and institutions committee and also a member of the Fox Valley Center trustees, told the committee it was faced with the problem of turning students away from the center within two years unless something is done.

The county is faced with three alternatives, he said. The first is to do nothing, the second is to build library and auditorium facilities to make the present center adequate for six to ten years, and the third is to build a new center.

Center Jointly Operated
The center is operated jointly by Outagamie and Winnebago Counties. Indications have been that if Outagamie County wanted to go ahead with building a new center, Winnebago County would pull out of the venture.

One joint meeting has already been held between the two counties on the possibility of selling the present center and Outagamie County going alone on a new facility. There has been no official reaction from Winnebago County.

Helble Questions Theory
He also questioned the theory of having local communities pay for construction of the university centers. He said this amounted to the county paying for two higher education systems.

DeLaHunt replied that pressure has been put on the Legislature to change the method of financing university centers but that state financing would mean the end of local control.

No Witnesses at Trial; Attorney Freed of Charge
An Appleton attorney had a driving charge against him dismissed Wednesday afternoon when Dennis Herring, assistant city attorney, the only person to show up for the trial, told the court there was a "lack of availability of witnesses."

Appleton police charged Leon E. Jensen, 36, 1020 E. Vine St., with following too closely, after his car rammed into the rear of another auto about 11:30 p.m. Oct. 30 in the 600 block of W. Prospect Avenue.

Jensen pleaded innocent and since he is an attorney who practices in the Outagamie County courts, all three county judges disqualified themselves from hearing the case. Calumet County Judge D. H. Sebor was named to preside at the trial Wednesday afternoon in Appleton.

According to court records, the only appearance made was by Herring. Neither Jensen nor his attorney were there, nor was the arresting policeman or any witnesses. Police told The Post-Crescent today that they were not contacted about Wednesday's 2 p.m. trial date.

University Center system of officials also have indicated that either a new center should be built or the present one expanded.

Committee member Herbert Helble, Appleton, indicated he was in favor of making a federal aid application but preferred going slowly on a decision. "I don't know enough yet to be able to support building a new center," he said.

He also questioned the theory of having local communities pay for construction of the university centers. He said this amounted to the county paying for two higher education systems.

DeLaHunt replied that pressure has been put on the Legislature to change the method of financing university centers but that state financing would mean the end of local control.

Helble also questioned the possibility of finding a buyer for the present center building if the decision was made to construct a new center. "Who would buy the center? The building is not good for anything except its present use," he said.

DeLaHunt urged that a "yes or no" decision be made and that it should not be left dangling with a "maybe."

Reach Federal Age Limit 2 Draft Board Members Retire

Outagamie County Selective Service Board No. 53 will lose two veteran members because of a federal law effective Jan. 1 which states that no one over the age of 75 can serve on the boards.

This month's board meeting was the last for Arthur W. Schmalz, 77, 51 Fox Point Drive, who this week received a 25-year service certificate from fellow board members.

George A. Butth, 1326 S. Outagamie St., has one more board meeting before his mandatory retirement becomes effective. Butth has been on the local board nearly 25 years. The two vacancies on the five-man board will be filled by appointments by federal authorities.

Schmalz was the "senior" member of the local board after the recent retirement of Frank Appleton. Kaukauna native, Schmalz has lived in Outagamie County most of his life. He served overseas with the military during World War I.

Schmalz, retired in 1961 as a vice president for Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna. He is a director and vice president of the Bank of Kaukauna and formerly was affiliated with the Kaukauna Savings and Loan Association.

He is a past president of the Rotary Club and has life memberships in the 40 and 8, Elks Lodge, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and American Legion. He and his wife, Susan, have one child.

Butth, a Wausau native, came to Appleton with his wife, Emmy, in 1921 and they have lived here since. He is president and general manager of the Butth Oil Co., which he helped organize in 1931.

Butth, 74, was in the Army quartermaster corps during World War I. He is a Shriner, a member of the Masonic Order, Rotary, American Legion, and Appleton Chamber of Commerce. He also has served as director of Wisconsin Gas Service, Inc., Appleton State Bank and Valley Bank Corporation and has been active in hospital drives. Butth also has held high offices in the Zion Lutheran Church, Appleton.

Extension Plans Topics of Rural, Urban Interest

Range From Swine Production to Income Tax Forms

Both rural and urban interests will benefit from the 1968 package of educational services being offered by the University of Wisconsin Extension Division staff in Outagamie County.

For the farmers there will be a five-part series on swine management conducted by Gary Blomberg, county farm management agent, and University of Wisconsin livestock specialists. New recommendations in farm crop productions also will be accented.

County Home Economist Colleen Christensen will offer consumer education on food buys and nutrition, home management and modern textiles. Urban youth development will be the theme of activities by County 4-H Agent William Shaw in January as he seeks to expand the spectrum of 4-H into the Fox Cities in anticipation of forming special project clubs. He will be assisted by Sharon Hutjens, county 4-H home economist.

Host to Sale

Russell Luckow, county agricultural agent, again will be assisting the cattle breed organizations in their activities. This year the Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders Association will have its annual convention in Appleton Feb. 9-10. Calumet and Outagamie counties dairymen are playing host to the conference and cattle sale.

The recently completed farm legal affairs clinic may be repeated next year with different topics. A total of 175 persons attended meetings throughout the county conducted by attorneys from the county bar association. Roadside marketing meetings are planned for these small businessmen from Outagamie and Winnebago counties.

A farm income tax course for practitioners and farmers may be developed at the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center as a follow-up to this year's clinic at Appleton. A six-part series on agricultural marketing also will be offered starting in February.

Develops Plots

Luckow said he hopes to initiate a county comprehensive resource development plan. Special plots will be developed next year to illustrate soil suitability for varied types of buildings.

There will be greater emphasis on 4-H and youth leader development including project training for key leaders in the 22 project areas offered in the county program.

The educational television series will be continued with accent on science. This year's program promoted emergency preparedness. Most of the schools in the county participated. The programs were telecast by WLUX-TV, Channel 11 in Green Bay.

The county may try a domestic and miniature version of the International Farm Youth Exchange program next year. Shaw indicated the county had received invitations from Michigan and Ohio to cooperate in an exchange program of junior leaders. About 12 youths would be chosen. It will take about six months to develop, he said.

Grand Chute to Reassess at Full Valuation

Taxes Should be Reduced on Homes, Authorities Believe

An appropriation of $30,300 for reappraisal of Grand Chute to bring property assessments into line was approved at a special meeting of the town board Tuesday evening.

James R. Laird Co., Appleton, appraisers and mappers, were awarded a contract and will start operations immediately. Laird, who attended the meeting, told board members a North Carolina firm will be contracted for aerial photomapping which will require about six weeks. Complete reassessment is scheduled for completion on or before Nov. 29, 1968.

Town Assessor John R. Stevens, said the program would pay for itself in a greatly reduced tax rate and also place added emphasis on commercial and industrial property.

The town will be assessed at full value. In the eight years Stevens has served the town, the value has increased from $11 million to better than $22 million and it has been impossible for an assessor working on a part-time basis to keep records up to date, officials said.

Tax Would Drop

Authorities said if the appraisal firm finds values claimed by the state in its equalized value, the town tax rate could possibly drop to about $20 per $1,000 of assessed value. Officials also felt the state tax credit will be increased which will proportionately reduce the tax bill. This year the credit totaled $9,446 which reduced the bill only 43 cents per $1,000. Working on the present assessment each year, the credit is less.

Officials said some property values will be increased, but when assessed at full value, indications are the property owner will pay less total taxes. Stevens said home owners are paying too much and the commercial developments along W. College Avenue will be required to pay their fair share.

Laird said the reappraisal program is based on reproduction cost less depreciation. The procedures, costs and depreciation schedules are standardized to produce equalized valuations on a local level.

Field inspections determine the various elements of the buildings and external dimensions. House furnishings do not influence the valuation nor does the deferring of normal maintenance, Laird said.

He said land values are established by analyzing recent sales. This determines front foot and acreage values for the various areas and land types in the community. Individual parcels are then appraised with consideration given to location, productivity and topography.

"To the extent that is humanly possible all appraisals will be fair and equitable. Since all properties receive equal treatment a apportionment of the tax burden should be fair and just," Laird said.

The appraising firm will furnish the town with a complete tax map and files when the program is completed.

The tax map is a plotted inventory of all real property within the municipalities jurisdiction which shows individual property lines, streams and rivers, all thoroughfares, exempted property, railroads and utilities, dimensions of parcels, area of parcels, block numbers, tax district boundary lines, adjacent tax districts and lot numbers.

For future use, according to officials, the tax map will permit every land parcel to be identified — there can be no omitted land assessments. Characteristics peculiar to each piece of property will be known and accessible to the taxpayer. Each property owner can make his own comparison with properties similar to his own. This affords a convincing argument for taxpayer and assessor alike.

Once the map has been prepared it can be kept current by recording each property transfer or division as it occurs.

Medina Man Sentenced on Two Charges

A 21-year-old Medina man sat through two trials Thursday morning in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, then was taken back upstairs to jail to begin serving a four-months sentence.

Charles Lund, who has been in jail since late in September after being unable to post bond, stood trial at 10:30 a.m. on a charge of furnishing beer for a 17-year-old boy in Hortonville Sept. 1. After being found guilty of that count, he went to trial at 11 a.m. for contributing to the delinquency of three 17-year-old boys in Kaukauna Sept. 17.

Lund also was found guilty on the second charge. Judge Gustave J. Keller sentenced the Medina man to two months on each charge, and did not allow credit for the time he has been in jail under bond. Lund did not have an attorney in court Thursday.

Boy Testified

A 17-year-old New London boy testified at the 10:30 a.m. trial that he and Lund drove to a Hortonville tavern the night of Sept. 1, and Lund purchased a case of beer and they drove outside the village and drank some of it.

Lund then dropped him off in the village. The boy said he got into a fight behind Hortonville Lanes, where he was picked up by police.

Hortonville Police Chief Douglas Jones testified that he found the 17-year-old boy behind the bowling lanes. He said the boy became argumentative and it later was discovered that he had been drinking. The boy told him Lund bought the beer.

Outagamie County sheriff's investigators brought the second charge, explaining that Lund and three 17-year-old Medina boys went to Kaukauna Sept. 17 and slept overnight by railroad tracks in that city. While in Kaukauna, investigators said, Lund got beer for the youths.

The three boys involved testified that they went to Kaukauna on two motorbikes the afternoon of Sept. 17. According to testimony, they rode around for some time, then Lund got them some beer which they shared. They said they slept outside, near railroad tracks.

The mother of one of the boys testified that on Sept. 18, she notified the sheriff's department that her son was missing and later told authorities that Lund had taken her son's motorbike.

Calvin L. Spice, Outagamie County undersheriff, testified that he was in the Kaukauna Police Department the morning of Sept. 19 when he heard "tires squeal," looked outside, and saw Lund lying on the pavement, an overturned motorbike nearby.

Knowing that Lund was being sought, Spice ran outside and took him into custody.

Lund told the court that he and the boys "hid out" near the railroad tracks because he knew the police were looking for them.

Discuss Plans For Watershed

Initial Work Could Start in Outagamie in '68

Preliminary steps may get underway early next year in planning Outagamie County's first watershed development.

This was what the county board's committee on agriculture and extension education was told Thursday morning by Soil Conservationist Vernon Geiger.

Geiger suggested a discussion meeting early next year with Don Niendorf, Manitowoc, from the state Soil Conservation Service (SCS) staff, to explain the procedures and problems related to watershed planning.

Would Ask Board

The county committee, acting as the soil and water conservation district board, would ask the State Conservation Board to instruct its planning team to conduct a feasibility study of the proposed project to see if it would qualify for federal aid under Public Law 566.

Geiger said the first project would be the Bear Creek watershed area, which stretches from Stephensville toward State 47 in the central part of the county.

The stream and its tributaries stretch through the Towns of Ellington, Center and Green-ville. Six agricultural agencies in the county would be involved in each year for sixth graders in the project, assisted by the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission.

Agencies are Farmers Home Administration, University of Wisconsin Extension Division staff, Agricultural Stabilization

Telulah Park Locomotive

Exhibit Benefactor Offers $200 Reward for Vandals

Although hospitalized the past four months, John M. Balliet is trying to do something to halt vandalism damage to the city's railroad locomotive exhibit in Telulah Park.

The locomotive was given to the city in 1959 and Balliet has paid for its installation and maintenance.

In a letter to Mayor George Buckley he has offered a reward of $200 for the name or ward of persons responsible for the acts.

"I am now increasing the reward to $200 (it had formerly been $25), retroactive to 1959, and I hope this will be large enough to bring required results," Balliet wrote the mayor. While Balliet was in the hospital, vandals apparently broke windows in the cab of the locomotive and destroyed several engine parts.

Balliet planned to have the locomotive painted and refurbished this fall but was unable to because of his illness. He told the mayor he will complete the project next spring.

"I know vandalism has increased enormously in the nation as well as in the City of Appleton the past few years, but I have always believed that youngsters (who must be the culprits) would consider a steam locomotive of this kind oil limits for their depredation," Balliet wrote. "But when they destroy tombstones or statues, it seems as though nothing is exempt under their code."

After negotiating with the Soo Line between 1956 and 1959 for the donation of the engine, Balliet agreed to keep the exhibit in prime condition at his own cost. He has also provided in his will a bequest of $3,000 of 5 per cent bonds, with interest on the bonds capable of meeting yearly maintenance costs for the exhibit.

Appleton's Christmas Present Free Parking This Weekend!

Mayor George Buckley quoted poetry and members of the city council got into the holiday mood Wednesday night.

The result: A pre-Christmas present for motorists in the form of free parking Friday and Saturday.

It was the mayor's idea and the aldermen agreed.

Buckley's poetic effort came at the beginning of the last council meeting in 1967 — the mayor recalling it from his childhood days. It went:

"The candlelight of Christmas

Not only from house windows

All up the streets and down.

"But on the people's faces

A quiet light is seen

And faith kept ever-green."

Spirit of Giving

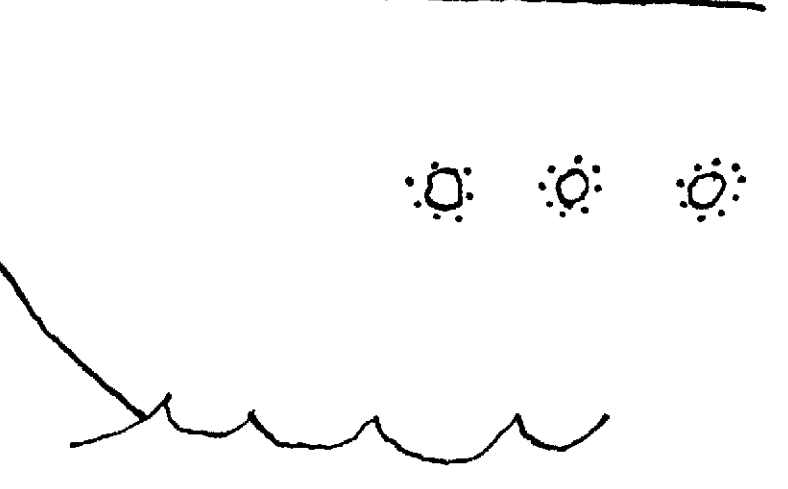

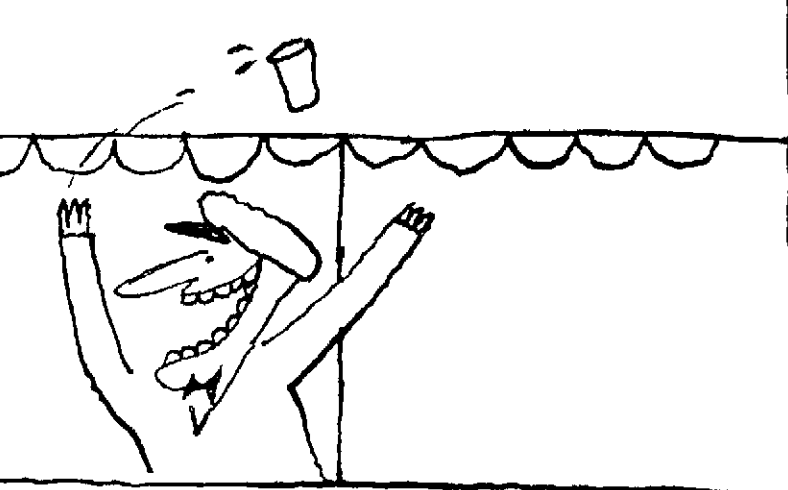

As he introduced his resolution calling for the police department to refrain from issuing parking tickets in metered areas for the two day period, Buckley commented, "The hearts of the members of the common council are filled with the same spirit of giving and also the spirit of living."

Buckley said it was the council's and City of Appleton's way of extending to the people of the city and surrounding area best wishes for a happy holiday season.

The rules were suspended, a few questions raised concerning the legality of the city's generous gesture, and poem and resolution were unanimously adopted.

Universal Family of Christ

Editor's Note—The family of Jesus was more than brothers, sisters, aunts and cousins. Jesus also had a universal relationship. The following is the last of a five-part Christmas series on the Kinsmen of Christ.

carries a lantern showing the path. "I am the way," he said. There is a big house on the top of the hill and warm light glows through the open door. It's home, as the guide explains it, the paternal manor house, humanity's joint estate.

"Come..." Jesus said. "In my Father's house are many rooms." It's a spacious, magnificent abode, the consummate habitation, an inheritance for the family of man. "Behold, the dwelling of God is with men."

That is the greater, ultimate kinship attested by that new-corned of Christmas, his wider affiliation, his all-in-all consanguinity. "I am in the Father, and you are in me, and I in you."

He was a man, surely, "made like his brethren in every respect," Scripture says, with a flock of assorted relatives—skeptics, allies, the disenchanted, the solicitous.

'I Am the Vine'
But he also asserted a larger lineage, of profounder roots and vaster progeny. "Before Abraham, I am..." I and the Father are one. And he claimed a universal succession "I am the vine, you are the branches."

It was an immense, strange and comprehensive heritage. Although he was a thorough-going man of the earth, of one time, one place, one group, there also was an aura of mystery about him, his singular drive, his enigmatic sayings, his utter commitment to others.

"Bar Nasa," he called himself, the "Son of Man." But also, "Bar Eloah," the "Son of God."

me that I am in the Father and the Father in me."

Embraced the World
He spawned a strain that lasted, spread and embraced a world. "For in Christ Jesus you are all sons of God, through faith," the apostle Paul wrote.

"There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus. And if you are Christ's, then you are Abraham's offspring, heirs according to the promise."

It was a big family, an inclusive household. Christ took on, becoming an integral part of it. Since he also is identified fully with God as well as man, it is held that he infused a revitalizing kinship with the divine into the mutual human stream.

"He was before all things and in him all things hold together," says St. Paul. "God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself."

Unifying Aspect
That unifying aspect was a central force in Christ—the drawing together, the harmonizing and rejoining of all the fractured segments of men—the broken personalities, the economic imbalances, the divided nations and races, the lost love.

And it was love that he incarnated and dispensed as the animating, binding tie. "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another," Jesus said. "As the Father has loved me, so I have loved you. Abide in my love."

only because of him—is not the desiring love of "eros" which circles around its own needs and satisfaction, but a love that searches for the lost, a burning, resoldering love that makes a unity of the many.

'Come to Me'
"Come to me, all who labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest," he said. And that included the wastrel who had strayed and squandered his substance but then came home, as related in the story of the prodigal son.

"Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you," the young man cried. "I am no longer worthy to be called your son."

A Very Merry Christmas

Snow Belt Is Snowless

BY JOHN TORINUS JR.
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

BESSEMER, Mich. — There isn't much Christmas joy in the snow belt of the Upper Peninsula today.

After one of the earliest starts in midwestern skiing history, high temperatures and unseasonal rains, which could have been snow, have closed down operations on most hills.

"How bad is it?" Jack English, manager of Indianhead, was asked.

"It couldn't be much worse," he replied.

There was only a glimmer of a happier holiday season Thursday night as a slight snow started to fall and the temperatures dropped far enough to start making artificial snow.

English said he was shooting for being open again on Christmas Day with artificial snow to salvage some of the peak ski trade of the year between the Christmas and New Year's weekends.

Two months ago, the elusive and profitable 20 week season seemed assured for midwestern resorts. Indianhead opened up Oct. 26 and stayed open for ten days.

Lack of new snow forced a shutdown, but English opened up again for Thanksgiving weekend.

Lou Gheller of Powderhorn reported 4,000 skiers over Thanksgiving.

Then the temperatures started to go up, and they stayed up. English said they could have

Fond du Lac and Southwest Quints Post Victories

Fond du Lac's Cardinals ran past Sheboygan South, 75-60, and Green Bay Southwest routed Preble, 68-43, in Fox River Valley Conference cage games Thursday night.

Fondy's victory was its fourth in seven games in the league, while South's loss left the Redmen with a 1-5 mark. Southwest evened its record at 3-3 in FRVC play, and Preble, stayed in the cellar with an 0-6 mark.

Two more games are on the docket for tonight, as Sheboygan North and Appleton East battle in Seims gym. They are tied for third place with 3-1 records. Second-place Appleton West (4-1) visits Oshkosh (3-2).

built up a base of man-made snow if the mercury had just given them a break. But the consistently warm days frustrated any snowmaking.

On the brighter side, the hotels and motels are still booked completely up for the New Year's weekend, and only a few cancellations have come in.

If anyone knows any powerful snow dances, now is the time. Don't forget the opening session of the Post-Crescent Ski School on Thursday Jan. 4. The indoor meeting starts at 7 p.m. at Madison Junior High School. It will feature two ski films and tips on how to get off on both feet for your skiing career.

Uncle Sam's ladies team at the 1968 Olympics are going to be the most glamorous, if not the fastest, girls on the hill.

They're going to be wearing metallic silver, form-fitting ski outfits, supposedly to cut down on wind resistance.

A fraction of a second can make the difference in racing, and it may also serve to distract the other countries' male teams.

New Year's Day is usually the peak day of the season for most midwestern resorts, despite the fact that many of skiers get a late start that morning.

Titans Deal 88-83 Defeat By Youngstown

Oshkosh lost at Youngstown, Ohio, 88-83, for the Titan's first defeat of the season; and Eau Claire was downed 89-79 at Minnesota-Duluth.

Tom Reikowski led UW-M with 27 points as the Panthers marked the fourth time this season they've scored more than 100 points.

Keith Koppen was high for Monmouth with 25. UW-M is 6-2 for the season and Monmouth, of the Midwest Conference, is 0-2.

Youngstown scored six free throws in the final two minutes as the Penguins won their fifth triumph in a row after losing the season opener Jim McElroy led Youngstown with 37 points.

Tom Witasek and Ron Hayek were high with 27 and 26 points, respectively, for Oshkosh, which held a 47-44 halftime edge. The Titans are 6-1 for the campaign. Martin Borowicz had 26 points for Minnesota-Duluth which led most of the game. Jim Swenson and Gerald Hughes topped Eau Claire with 19 points each.

Bullets Stop Bulls in Final Two Minutes

CHICAGO (AP) — The Baltimore Bullets pulled away in the final two minutes Thursday night on the strength of rookie Earl Monroe to sink the Chicago Bulls 116-108 in a ragged National Basketball Association contest.

Baltimore's victory, its 12th against 19 losses in the league's Eastern Division, was achieved despite the injury to starter Gus Johnson and illness to John Egan and Don Ohl.

The Bulls, who lost the lead late in the second quarter, were knocked off for the 11th time in 13 outings on their home court. Monroe, a 6-3 rookie, who was held to four free throws in the first half, picked up 21 markers in the second half to help send the Bulls down to their 25th loss.

Adcock Named to Manage Seattle For 1968 Season

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Joe Adcock was named Thursday to manage the Seattle baseball team which will play next season in the Pacific Coast League and become an American League expansion team in 1969.

Max Soriano, president of the team, announced the signing of the former major league first baseman and ex-manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Adcock will succeed Chuck Tanner, who remained with the California Angel Organization when it sold the Seattle franchise to Soriano's group, Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc. Adcock has been replaced by Alvin Dark at Cleveland.

The Cleveland contract had a year to run and that club will pay the difference between Adcock's Coast League managerial salary and the amount of his uncompleted contract.

Oakland Sets Offensive and Defensive Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland's Western Division championship Raiders clinched their title two weeks ago and haven't lost since October. It stands to reason that they are leading in more than the standings.

Statistics released by the American Football League today confirm that suspicion.

The Raiders lead the league in both over-all offense and over-all defense. You can't get much better than that.

Oakland had gained 4,844 yards rushing and passing, 121 more than the New York Jets, who lead in passing offense with 3,529 yards and are second in over-all offense.

Kansas City leads in rushing offense with 2,018 yards gained.

Social Security Wage Base Going to $7,800

BY SYLVIA PORTER

It's hardly news that our Social Security tax contributions are going up again, but precisely how will the new 1968 maximum "wage base" for taxes effect your dollar-and-cents contributions next year?

Next year, the wage base, the maximum earnings on which we

Rate Up in 1968

If you are an employee, your Social Security tax rate will be raised in 1968 from today's 4.4 per cent to 4.8 per cent (but this is .1 per cent less than the 4.9 per cent rate which had been scheduled under the old law). This means you'll pay a new maximum contribution of $374.40. And if you're self-employed, the 1968 Social Security tax rise will lift your maximum contribution from $199.20 to $338.20.

Thus it's obvious that, for the near term anyway, the key factor behind your rising Social Security contributions will be next year's wage base hike. And the reason for this hike is to keep Social Security taxes, and benefits, related to the wages now actually being earned by a significant majority of Americans. With today's $6,600 wage base, only half of the regularly-employed working men in the U.S. are paying Social Security taxes on all of their earnings and only three out of four of all workers, full and part-time are contributing on the basis of their full earnings. However, remember that if you are among the one in four who are contributing to Social Security on the basis of all your earnings and who therefore will be hit hardest by the wage base hike, you also will reap the fattest benefit hikes later when you retire.

For instance, a worker turning 27 next year and paying the maximum Social Security taxes will pay extra Social Security taxes amounting to $2,487 under the new law between 1968 and the time he retired at age 65. But this worker's extra benefits under the new law will total $13,980, in retirement protection alone for himself and his wife.

Assuming you are an employee now earning $7,800 or more, here is a table to show you how your Social Security-Medicare contributions are slated to be hiked:

	Old law	New law	Inc'se
1968	290.40	$343.20	$52.80
1969-70	323.40	374.40	51.00
1971-72	323.40	405.60	82.20
1973-75	356.40	440.70	84.30
1976-79	359.70	444.60	84.90
1980-86	366.30	452.40	86.10
1987 on	372.90	460.20	87.30

Bill to Allow Choice Of Repair Garages Died in Assembly

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A quarrel between automotive dealers and garage proprietors and automobile insurance companies which was fought without a conclusion in the recently adjourned Legislature may be referred to the State Insurance Department for study.

Some legislators have asked the department to determine whether the fight about the selection of garages for repairs under insurance contracts can be resolved without legislative action.

The Wisconsin Automotive Trades Association (WATA) was the sponsor of legislation which passed the State Senate, but was defunct in the rush of final adjournment in the Assembly, that would have required a clause in comprehensive and collision insurance contracts on automobiles providing that the damage for which such insurance is liable may be repaired at any garage the automobile owner selects. It was one of the major legislative goals of the WATA this year.

Provides Arbitrator

The measure would also have provided for the selection of an arbitrator to resolve disputes about the costs of repairs through the services of a neutral appraiser.

The WATA told the lawmakers that the "public is entitled to having and knowing basic ground rules as to payment of insurance claims premised on fairness to all and not on the whims or pressure of insurance companies."

Louis Milan, manager of the WATA and one of the senior lobbyists working at the state capitol, said that although the legislature is in recess, it may be reconvened at the call of its members, and that in such an event his bill would have a chance for final consideration. He said that he has heard reports that because of the fight over the legislation, the insurance companies are reappraising their claim settlement procedures.

State Congressmen Have Little Good to Say About the '90th'

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — With the first session of the 90th Congress behind them, most Wisconsin House members had little good to say of its legislative accomplishments.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, commented crisply that the first session of the 90th would not be "noted for passing new major legislation."

He believes that the major bill of the year was the one making changes in the Social Security Act, which was finally approved in the last few hours of the adjournment rush.

The top Republican on the Ways and Means Committee which reported the measure, Byrnes said the bill was by far the most important in "magnitude and importance."

Cities Urged to Consider New Local Auto Tax

Local License Aims At Relieving Levy On Property Owners

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The new Wisconsin "wheel tax" law, authorizing municipalities at their option to levy local motor vehicle registration fees up to $9 a year, may be a useful and acceptable tool "in the continuing battle of the municipal budget," says the manager of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Ed Johnson commented on the recent legislative act, in response to pressures of municipalities for some form of state action to alleviate their real estate tax problems, that permits localities to tie in a local auto tax of up to 50 per cent of the state yearly charge of $18 if they choose to do so.

The measure exempts trucks, and those vehicles now registered at a fee of $5 a year or less.

Came Late

The legislative action came late in the year, when most municipal officials had already made their budget and tax decisions for the next year.

The immediate and eager action of the administration of the capital city of Madison in accepting the option, however, suggests that other municipalities may do so in the future when they seek alternatives to rises in the local property tax rate.

The Madison city administration used the auto tax option, and figured that it would eliminate the need for an extra levy of one mill — over the record 48 mills already enacted — for the financing of the exploding city budget for 1968.

Johnson commented:

Provides Choice
"If a community is confronted with the absolute necessity to raise additional funds for local purposes, the new law provides a choice, whereas before local officials could only resort to the property tax."

Payment of such a local fee when authorized by city action will be assured, since the law provides that when the State Motor Vehicle Department is notified that a locality has levied the tax, the department won't renew state licenses for residents of the municipality without a receipt for payment of the local tax. Johnson conceded that the new tax idea won't be popular, but he urged city officials to study it, nevertheless. In many cases it will be borne by persons other than those affected by property tax increases, he said.

also played a leading role in preventing his committee from reporting a bill raising income taxes by imposing a 10 per cent surtax, as requested by the President.

"One of the main issues of this past Congress concerned fiscal policy," he said, during an interview. "The action we took in insisting on restraints in federal spending resulted in some cuts, although not enough, by the President."

"This was an improvement over the 89th Congress, however, which was completely unrestrained in its headlong dash into national debt," Byrnes continued. "The present Congress can be credited with pulling in its reins so far as spending is concerned, but we still have a runaway horse."

Commenting that it was "very clear" that greater restraint must be used so far as wages and price increases, he expressed the hope that "we can avoid wage and price controls."

"We need more leadership in the executive departments and more cooperation between labor and the business community in coping with runaway inflation," he concluded.

Laird Gloomy

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Marshfield, gloomily observed the greatest accomplishment of the present Congress so far seemed to be "running the country into debt."

The Marshfield legislator, who is chairman of the House Republican Conference, did find some reason for optimism in what he called "moving much closer to the revenue-sharing principle by changing several

Fond du Lac Acts to Stop Sewer Plan

FOND DU LAC — The City of Fond du Lac Thursday started its fight against the Town of Fond du Lac's attempt to get city sewer service through the formation of a metropolitan sewerage district.

The case, which could set a statewide precedent, is being heard by Sheboygan County Judge Joseph Wilkus.

The city has challenged jurisdiction of the court and the hearing has been recessed until Jan. 5 to give attorneys time to file briefs concerning the court's jurisdiction.

Called to the stand Thursday were Freeman Holmer, administrator of the Resource Development Division of the Department of Natural Resources; Douglas Weiford, secretary of the Department of Local Affairs and Development, and Edward Johnson, executive director of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. All agreed that the formation of a special single purpose district should be the last resort to solve the area pollution problem.

The Town of Fond du Lac is under a state order to abate its pollution by Jan. 1, 1968, or face a $5,000 per day fine.

Deputy Gets Pushed Around

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Seeing their duty, two citizens in a car flagged down a Napa County sheriff's deputy recently to inform him of another driver creating a disturbance nearby.

The deputy got back in his cruiser, but it wouldn't start. At his request, one of the Samaritans pushed the officer to the scene of the disturbance.

The deputy made an arrest—but again his car wouldn't start. Again the helpful motorist gave a push, this time to the county jail. Sheriff Earl Randol told said none of his deputies ever gets pushed around so much.

categorical grant - in - aid programs into the 'bloc' grant approach.

"For example, the President's categorical grant programs requiring each local law enforcement agency to get approval from the attorney general to get funds for these programs," he explained.

State Control

"We Republicans were able to change this program into one that follows the bloc grant device which provides maximum state and local control over law enforcement with a minimum of federal interference."

"In the area of health legislation, the same kind of success was achieved," he continued. "We were able to expand the Comprehensive Health Act which had consolidated 16 separately administered public health programs into a single bloc grant."

Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, R-Richland Center, observed that members of Congress were in a "somber mood" as they adjourned for Christmas.

Noting that Congress had spent nearly 12 months of "frustrating and inconclusive wrangling," the former Badger State governor said the members were faced with problems concerning the "costly bloody conflict in Vietnam, rising prices and inflation, the largest deficit in the history of the government, violence in the streets, a sagging farm economy and the value of the dollar under serious assault."

Your Problems

Husband's Behavior Puzzles, Embarrasses Wife, His Family

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think of a man who:

(1) Has never been wrong in his life.

(2) Has moved 26 times in 14 years of marriage because he "likes a change of scenery."

(3) Has never sat down at the table without complaining about the food.

(4) Spends 50 dollars for cowboy boots and raises the roof off the house when his wife buys their little girl a pair of ballet slippers for $4.98.

(5) Sneaks out of bed on Sunday morning and goes to a good restaurant for a huge breakfast all by himself.

(6) Was nowhere around when his three children were born.

(7) Walks out of his own home when his in-laws are visiting because they don't agree with him on the war in Vietnam.

(8) Chews hard candy or potato chips when he telephones his mother because he knows the crunching drives her crazy.

It sounds unbelievable, doesn't it? Well, the man is my husband. Although I am not a very good writer, I am a smart woman. Yet I can't figure out what the clod is trying to prove.

I hope you will print this letter. Maybe if he sees how he looks in the newspaper he will straightened up and fly right. — Battle Fatigue

Dear Bat: Don't expect miracles, Lady. I'm printing your letter for other wives who write. Your husband will make their husbands look good.

In the meantime, how come a smart woman like you picked such a clunker?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son, Sam, who is 19 and a sophomore in college, was required to write a theme on some kind of business venture. It had to be "practical, imaginative and workable." Sam asked his dad's help with the assignment. Instead of giving the boy a few ideas, Sam's father threw himself into the project body and soul. He spent several hours on the theme, took it down to the office, dictated it to his secretary and had it all typed up. He then handed over the finished project to Sam who was delighted, naturally, since it had saved him hours of work.

I am annoyed with my husband for doing this. He says I am all wet, that the theme was "fun" and he hopes Sam asks his help again. I have no doubt that he will. May I have your views? — Mean Mother

Dear Mother: Sam knows he is not being honest when he hands in a theme he did not write. It's bad enough when a friend helps pull off this cutie but when a boy's father helps him cheat, it's outrageous. I hope your husband won't be too shocked when his son gets caught at some crooked act of a more serious nature. If he asked you, "Where did I fail?" you can tell him.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter is getting married next month and we had so many arguments that I'm ready to buy her a ladder and tell her to elope.

Now she has decided to wear white gloves with her wedding gown because she saw it in a movie. She does not remember what the bride did when the groom put the ring on her finger. She says he must have put the ring on over the gloves. This does not sound right to me. Please give us your opinion. — Round Six

Dear Round: A wedding ring over a glove makes no sense. If your daughter wants to wear gloves, she should remove them when she reaches the altar.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Copyright, 1967)

Keep Strong Hand Away From Lead

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

In a certain kind of bridge hand one opponent is dangerous, and the entire plan of play is to keep that opponent out of the lead. You may have to do some deep finessing to follow your plan.

West opened the king of hearts, and South began his maneuvers by refusing the first trick. One heart trick had to be surrendered in any case, and it was safe to lose this trick to West, who could not afford to attack diamonds.

For lack of anything better to do, West continued with the deuce of hearts to dummy's ace. Now declarer made his next move to keep East out by leading the jack of spades from dummy. East covered with the king, and South won with the ace.

South ruffed a heart in dummy and led another trump. When East played the seven, South took a deep finesse with the eight.

Unimportant Overtrick
This deep finesse happened to win, and South could draw the last trump with the queen and run the clubs to get rid of a diamond. South made five, but the overtrick was unimportant. South could not lose his contract.

If West had started with the 10-9 of trumps he could have won the second trump trick with the ten. But then all the trumps would be out, and nothing could stop South from running the clubs to get rid of one diamond. This would assure the contract.

If South made the "normal" play of the queen of spades on the second round of trumps East would ruff the third club with the ten of spades. Then a diamond lead through the king would defeat the contract.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-9, H-K Q J 2, D-A Q 10 6, C-10 7 5 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds. Avoid the response of two hearts on a four-card suit.

Dramatic Week for Women in World News

There was happiness and heartache in varying degrees this week as a queen grandmother was reunited with her family, a well-known priest who asked permission to leave the church was married, and a worried, watching wife lost her husband after one of the most dramatic surgery attempts in medical history. Mrs. Louis Washkansky, after years of worry about a husband with a misbehaving heart, and weeks of traumatic crisis as it almost seemed that he would begin a second life, was told three hours after she left his bedside in Cape Town, South Africa, Thursday morning, that he had lost the battle. The courageous man, who has helped the medical profession toward its first future success, undoubtedly will come alive again for Mrs.

Washkansky when she reads of the first patient who is saved.

Although skiing is in the news because it is that time of the year, another California woman, Billie Jean King, who this year won the ladies' tennis crown at Wimbledon, England, is backing The British Lawn Tennis Association's fight for open tennis. Although some players have said they would boycott the matches, Miss King says she is in favor of dropping the "amateur and professional classifications, and "will be there" next year.

Warmer Clothes
The top women of Greece, Queen Anne-Marie and Queen Mother Frederika do not know if they will be in their country next year, but in the meantime, they have called on Designer Federico Fourquet in Rome and ordered warmer clothes for the colder climate in the Italian city. There is speculation that the Greeks might accept Princess Irene, King Constantine's sister as his royal stand-in until the king returns to Greece.

London's Westminster Abbey will be the scene of the wedding of Actor Jim Hutton and actress Kathie Jennifer Green, daughter of composer Johnny Green. The couple announced Sunday they plan to be married in two weeks.

Army Cancels Soldier's Gift of Holiday Leave

NEW YORK (AP) — A midnight telephone call from the Red Cross saying only that her soldier-husband's leave from combat duty in Vietnam was canceled caused Mary Lou Cummings to postpone Thursday the Hawaii reunion a Jewish War Veterans post had arranged. Mrs. Cummings—in tears at the home of her in-laws in White Plains, N.Y.—was to leave Kennedy Airport Thursday morning. Levy Tuchinsky Post 51, in Brooklyn, was paying her way to meet her husband during his rest and recreation leave. 'Behind the Boys' The soldier, Spec. 4 James Cummings, 20, had been chosen for the holiday gift by the first sergeant of his company, a unit more than 300 members, offered to reunite a combat soldier with his wife during the holidays. The only conditions it prescribed were that the soldier be from New York State and eligible for rest and recreation leave.

River Drive Youngsters Have Yule Party

The children of River Drive had plans for a snowmobile ride Wednesday when their neighborhood Christmas party took place. The lack of snow ended those ideas, but even a rainy evening didn't dampen the spirit of the annual event. Neighbors met at the William Grubb home at 4:15 p.m. for cocoa, coffee and cookies. Members of the refreshment committee were Mrs. John Butler, Mrs. Roy Collar, Mrs. William Stone, Mrs. Joseph Bonner and Mrs. Stuart Koch. After all had gathered, the children led caroling through the drive, directed by Mrs. Clifford Vincent and led by bell ringers Brad Hansen and Jeffrey Grubb. Santa arrived at 5:30 p.m. to present gifts and favors at the neighborhood tree. Assisting him were pixies Beth Schindler and Linda Grubb. Mrs. Allen Hansen was general chairman of this year's plans.

Lynda Back in Time for Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lynda Robb made her first public appearance since her Dec. 9 wedding and promptly became close friends with a blonde, chubby-cheeked baby daughter of Secret Service agent John Bradshaw. Mrs. Robb turned up Thursday at the White House to help her mother, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, entertain the families of White House staff members. Just returned from a Virgin Islands honeymoon, Mrs. Robb—whose husband, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb didn't make an appearance—spent much of her time holding a 10-month-old namesake, Lynda Bradshaw, daughter of Secret Service agent John Bradshaw. Mrs. Johnson observes her 55th birthday today. She planned to attend a memorial service for Prime Minister Harold E. Holt of Australia at the Washington National Cathedral.

Men Attract Attention With a Flamboyant Flare

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON is still booming, not only as NEW YORK (AP) — While stuffed-shirt substitutes but for winning equal opportunities for themselves, women have inadvertently freed men from their inhibitions about the way they dress.

“As women begin to look like men, freed of the responsibility of running things ... become more flamboyant,” British fashion historian James Laver recently told an interviewer.

“Man is trying to get women to notice him,” Laver said, “and I don’t think his interest in clothing and cologne and so on is necessarily going to make him effeminate.”

Women’s Attention So what has he been doing lately, that is, in the year 1967, to make women notice him, now that his wife is bringing home half the rent money?

He’s wearing— Turtlenecks—Men have probably struck their hardest blow for fashion independence by snubbing the necktie, bow tie and a variety of other starched harnesses.

It was at a formal dinner in October, 1960, that Richard M. Nixon reportedly made a deal with another presidential candidate, John F. Kennedy: “Whoever is elected president will abolish white ties.”

Kennedy did practically abolish white tie formal wear during his term. But it took his brother, Robert, as well as television personality Johnny Carson and other public figures to practically eliminate the tie altogether by wearing turtlenecks with their dinner jackets.

Turtleneck Boom Though the necktie industry swears it is not choked up over the trend, the turtleneck boom

Double-Breasted Double-Breasted Everything Just weary of single-breastedness, or possibly because double-breastedness accommodates those vests so well, men have reverted to double-breasted sports blazers, dress suits, formal dinner jackets, yes and even double-breasted pajamas.

Military Influence—There is something about a soldier’s garb even in semipeacetime that makes a man adore trench coats—anything with epaulets and brass buttons, and boots.

Other Things—Once largely the work uniform of the grease monkey, the jump suit is now leisure wear for the avant-garde.

Men also are wearing fisherman’s knit sweaters, bright socks, lapelless jackets, even disposable paper collars—to attract the attention of modern, pay-check-earning misses, Mr. Laver?

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Picture Pretty

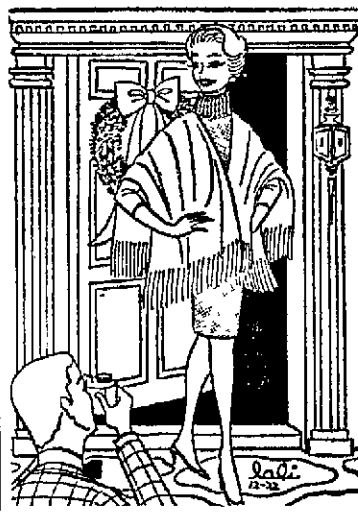

You do not have to possess a face like the one that sank a thousand ships to take a good snapshot. It helps when you have good bones, but a little posing know-how helps more. Thereby you really can trick the camera into picking out your best angles and overlooking your worst.

Learning to pose is really quite easy: Simply tip your head back a bit if your nose is overlong and it will look much shorter to the camera. A button nose takes on length when the head tips down a fraction.

To soften a broad nose or a sharp jawline, tilt the head a little to one side. To square off a round chin, turn the head slightly.

So much for the head. What about the figure? The principal thing to remember is to turn the hips and knees at an angle to the camera, to square the shoulders toward the camera. Whether you stand or are seated, don’t let your feet and hands steal the scene — get one hand out of sight and keep the feet close together.

A little practice and you won’t feel camera shy, even when the holiday shutter bugs begin to swarm!

Little Things Count in Makeup Beauty Skill

With beauty, as with so many things, it is the little things that count. Here are some beauty touches frequently overlooked.

When applying makeup be sure not to leave highwater marks at the temples or at the throat line. Dampen a cotton puff in good quality witch hazel and smooth the makeup until no lines show.

Are elbows smooth and callus free? The one way to be sure is with a mirror. Calluses on the elbows, or on the heels, may be reduced by first softening them with warm, soapy water and then rubbing with pumice. Discoloration can be bleached out with lemon juice.

If makeup tends to streak or turn blotchy the cause is likely to be the skin’s own oily secretion. Before applying makeup, condition the skin with a mild astringent such as good quality witch hazel. Let the lotion dry by itself.

Dark circles under the eyes may be concealed with a layer of light makeup before the foundation is applied. To preserve the illusion of lightness, avoid using mascara or liner on the lower lids.

Hair is more attractive if it has just a touch of fragrance. To achieve the right touch place a few drops of perfume in the last rinse.

The shampoo can be more than a cleanser, it can also condition the hair. An egg in the shampoo provides protein, a conditioning agent hair stylists have long known about.

During the cold weather, protect the lips from chapping by applying pomade after using the lipstick. It also imparts an attractive gloss to the lips.

Because artificial heat also tends to be drying, protect the lips during sleep with pomade. Put it on after the lipstick has been removed.

Shopper’s feet? Soothe tired, burning feet by soaking them in good quality witch hazel. Let the lotion dry by evaporation.

Preserve Pearl’s Lustre With Cleanliness, Care

Like any other precious jewel, pearl. Beauty care should be completed before pearls are put on.

Pearls should be handled carefully, like any other precious gems, but should never be put down on a hard surface, such as marble.

If worn often, pearls should be professionally cleaned and restrung once a year.

Fine cultured pearls are the result of man’s efforts to coax oysters into creating pearls. The effort dates back to the Thirteenth Century when Chinese monks slipped lead buddhas into the shells of living oysters to be coated with the oyster’s pearl nacre.

In 1893 a Japanese naturalist succeeded in coaxing an oyster to create a pearl. It was called cultured to differentiate it from a wild or natural pearl.

An oyster must be two to three years old before the stimulant-nucleus can be inserted, and it takes three to five more years for pearl growth.

Many Variables The cultivation of fine pearls is totally dependent upon natural conditions. Changes in weather, water temperatures, currents or natural food supplies affect the quality of the pearl.

Cultured pearls are relatively scarce: pearl oysters can only be grown in limited quantities in areas off the coasts of Japan, Australia and Burma.

When shopping for cultured pearls, remember that quality is dependent on the depth and brilliance of lustre, richness of iridescence, clarity of color and cleanliness of surface.

Wash Gently If there is a heavy accumulation of grime, pearls should be given a gentle washing with mild soap and water.

Hair spray, perfume or other cosmetics should be avoided around pearls. Many such beauty aids contain weak acids which may dull the surface of a
